This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. SCIANT, etc., quod ego Henricus, filius Siwardi de Melling, et hæredes mei dedimus, etc., peticione et consensu sponsæ meæ Amariæ, in cujus dote est, totum Henggert et totam meam partem de plano ab Henggerthalaka, usque ad divisam de Bikerstad; et iterum totam meam partem de Cunigescoth, usque ad divisam de Magalıle, et iterum per divisam de Maghale usque ad Henggerthalaka, Deo et Sanctæ Mariæ et Hospitali de Cokersand; in puram et perpetuam, etc.; cum omnibus pertinenciis, cum communione meæ dimidietatis prædictæ villæ, liberè et quietè ab omni seculari servicio; pro anima patris mei et matris, etc. Cum testibus. [fol. 79.] 1 Melling. Henricus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Henry, son of Siward de Melling,[1] at the petition and with the consent of his wife Amaria, of whose dower it was, to God and holy Mary and the Hospital of Cockersand, of all Hengarth, and all his part of the ground from Hengarth leach unto the boundary of Bickerstath, and all his part of Cunscough unto the boundary of Maghull, and so by the boundary of Maghull unto Hengarth leach; with common right of his moiety of the said town. [S.D. 1184–1190.]

[1] "[In 1066] Godeve held Melling. There were two carucates of land there. Wood one league long and half a league wide [= 720 a.] It was worth xs." (Domesday Book.) This was one of those manors in West Derby Hundred which in 1066 were quit of the geld of teamlands (amounting to 2*s.* 8*d.* the teamland), and from forfeiture for bloodshed and rape. (Ibid.) After the Conquest, the Saxon possessor escaped confiscation of his estates, and it may well be that Siward, the probable possessor temp. Stephen and Henry II., was a direct descendant of the Godeve of Saxon times. Siward had issue two sons, Henry and Thomas, who were both benefactors to the Hospital of Cockersand (1184–1190), and to the Abbey (c. 1190–1212). Cf. Nos. 1 to 6, and 9–11. The Survey of 1212 says:—"The said Henry [de Melling] and Thomas gave Northcroft and Hongerth and Ruethwait, little cultivations to St. Mary of Kokersand in alms." (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 812.) The same authority shows that Henry de Melling held Melling and Up-Holland for four teamlands or carucates of the King in chief, in thanage, rendering yearly 10*s.* for the former, and 12*s.* for the latter. (Ibid.) Henry was succeeded by his son Thomas, who fined 22*s.* for his relief, and had livery of his estates 13th September, 1225. (Fine Roll, 9 Henry III., m. 2.) He had a brother Roger, who was a benefactor to Cockersand and Burscough, and survived until 1260–1268. In 25 Edward I., 1297, after the death of Edmund, Earl of Lancaster, it was found by inquest that the heirs of Jordan de Hulton held Melling for 10*s.*, and Up-Holland for 12*s.* yearly service, of the said Earl (Escaeta, 25 Edward I., No. 51.) In 1320 (?) Peter de Burnhull held the Manor of Melling (Birch Feodary), and in 1346 it was returned in the Survey made that year, that divers tenants, and the Abbot of Cockersand, held four (sic) car. in Melling and Conescoughe in socage by 10*s.* yearly service. (Chetham Society, vol. lxxiv. pt. 2. p. 35.)

2 Melling. Idem.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Henricus de Melling, dedi, etc., Deo, etc., totam terram meam infra has divisas in Melling, scilicet, a parte occidentali de Ruhwahit sicut karra vadit in rivulum de Sandwat, et sequendo illum rivulum usque ad alium rivulum qui descendit in Sandwath, et sic in transversum usque in campum sicut terra et nemus dividunt inter karram et Holtum, et jam in transversum in parte australi usque ad alium rivulum qui descendit in prædictum Sandwath; et ita sequendo Sandwath usque ad finem de Ruhwaith in parte australi; et ita in transversum usque in campum sicuti cruces eorum demonstrant, et sequendo illum campum usque in karram de Ruhedisse, et sicut karra et campum dividunt usque at tortam quercum in parte australi, et jam in transversum usque ad duas quercus, et iterum in transversum usque in sikam quæ descendit in Sandwath; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè et honorificè ab omni seculari servicio et exactione, cum communione et eisiamentis feodi mei prædictæ villæ de Melling, cum dominicis porcis suis quietis in pannagio; pro salute, etc. Cum testibus.

Istam terram tenet Giliana filia Johannis Gilibrond, pro xvj^{d} per annum, et in decessu dimidia marca.

Et habemus quietam clamanciam Adæ filii Henrici capellani, et Agnetis, de ista terra, et quietam clamanciam Thomæ.

Grant in frankalmoign from Henry de Melling to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of all his land within these bounds, to wit, from the western side of Rughthwaite,[1] where the carr goes into Sandwath brook, following that brook to another brook which runs down into Sandwath, so across to the field where the arable land and the underwood separate, between the carr and Holt-holme, thence across to the southern side to another brook which runs down into the said Sandwath, so following Sandwath on the southern side to the end of Rughthwaite, thence across to the field as the crosses of the said canons direct, along the field into the carr of Rugheditch, as the carr and field divide, to the gnarled oak on the south side, thence across to two oak trees, and again across to the syke which goes down to Sandwath; with common right and easements of his fee in Melling, and acquittance of pannage for their demesne pigs. [s.d. 1190–1212.]

[In the margin]—Gillian, daughter of John Gellibrand, holds that land [in 1268] for 16 pence yearly service, and half a mark at death.

The canons have the release of Adam, son of Henry the chaplain, and of Agnes, respecting that land, and the release of Thomas.

[1] "Henricus Awte tenet certas terras vocatas Roghwhayte, reddit viij^{d}." (Rental of A.D. 1461.)

NOTUM sit omnibus qui sunt et qui futuri sunt, quod ego Henricus, dedi, etc., Deo [etc.], totam meam medietatem terræ quæ continetur infra has divisas, in longum de Yhawait Oylinssiche usque divisam de Kirkeby, et sic sequendo le kar usque Stokebrigge, et de Stokebrigge Ayhait Oyelinssiche, et inde in latum usque in alte, cum communi pastura et pessona propriis porcis suis et porcis hominum suorum ibi manencium, et cum aliis eisiamentis de Melling; in liberam, puram, etc., liberè et quietè, etc.; pro anima patris mei, etc., ita quod nec, etc. Cum testibus. 3 Melling. Idem.

Grant in frankalmoign from Henry de Melling to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of all his moiety of the land which is contained within these bounds, to wit, in length from Aythwaite Oylin's-syke to the boundary of Kirkby, and so following the carr to Stockbridge, and from Stockbridge Aythwaite Oylin's-syke in width to Alt; with common of pasture, and mast-fall for the canons' pigs, and the pigs of their men dwelling there, and other easements of Melling. [S.D. 1190–1212.]

OMNIBUS, etc., Henricus [etc.], salutem. Sciatis me dedisse, etc., illas tres landas quæ jacent propinquiores ad capud in orientali parte assarto (sic) qui fuit Ricardi Lancelin, et de bosco propinquiore prædicti assarti in australi parte, xj percatas in latitudine et xx^{ti} percatas in longitudine; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari servicio et exactione, cum communione et omnibus eisiamentis prædictæ villæ; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus. 4 Melling. Idem.

Grant in frankalmoign from Henry [de Melling to the canons of Cockersand], of those three "lands" which lie nearest to the head[rigg] on the eastern side of the assart which was Richard Lancelin's, and of the wood nearest on the south side of the said assart, a width of eleven perches, and a length of twenty perches; with common right and all other easements of that town. [S.D. 1190–1212.]

5 Melling. Thomas.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Thomas, filius Siwardi, et hæredes mei dedimus, etc., peticione et consensu sponsæ meæ Matildæ, totam terram quæ est inter magnam stratam et divisam de Simonddeswode, quæ etiam strata transit alt ad vadum quod est inter Melling et Thorp, tendens usque in Henggerdeslaka, et totam meam partem de plano ab ipsa laka usque ad divisam de Bikerstad; et iterum totam meam partem tocius Cuniggescofh usque ad divisam de Actum et divisam de Maghele, et de divisa de Maghele per mossam ad Henggeritheslaka, cum omnibus pertinenciis, Deo et hospitali de Cokersand; in puram et perpetuam, etc., cum communione meæ dimidietatis prædictæ villæ, liberè et quietè ab omni seculari servicio; pro anima patris, etc. Cum testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Thomas, son of Siward, and his heirs, at the request and by consent of Matilda his wife, for the health of the soul of his father, to God and the Hospital of Cockersand, of all the land which lies between the highway and the boundary of Simonswood, which said road crosses Alt at the wath [or ford], which is between Melling and Thorp, extending unto Hengarth's-leach; and all his part of the open ground from that leach to the boundary of Bickerstath; and besides, all his part of Cunscough, unto the boundary of Aughton, and to the boundary of Maghull, and from the boundary of Maghull by the moss to Hengarth's-leach; with all the appurtenances, together with common right of his moiety of that town; quit of all secular service. [S.D. 1184–1190.]

6 Melling. Henricus.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Henricus, filius Siwardi, concessi, etc., confirmavi Deo, etc., totam donacionem quam Thomas frater meus eis dedit, scilicet, totam terram de Northcroft cum augmento et pertinenciis, et totam partem suam de Cuniggescofh, scilicet, dimidietatem in bosco et plano et in omnibus prædicto Cuniggescofh pertinentibus, cum communione de Melling; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari servicio sicut ipse carta sua concessit et confirmavit. Hiis testibus.

Confirmation by Henry, son of Siward, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of the gift which Thomas his brother made to them, to wit, of the whole land of North-croft with addition, and appurtenances, and all his part of Cunscough, being the moiety both of wood and open ground, and all things appurtenant to Cunscough aforesaid; with common right of Melling, according to the charter wherewith he granted and confirmed the same. [S.D. 1184–1190.]

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Rogerus, filius Henrici de Melling, dedi, etc., Deo, etc., decem porcos quietos de pannagio in bosco de Melling; in liberam, puram, etc.; pro salute, etc. Cum warantia et testibus. 7 Melling. Rogerus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Roger, son of Henry de Melling, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of acquittance of pannage for ten pigs in Melling wood. [S.D. 1246–1268.]

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Rogerus, filius Roberti, parsonæ de Halsale, dedi, etc., quandam partem terræ meæ in Melling, infra has divisas, scilicet, medietatem tocius terræ inter acram de Cokersand, et terram Gilberti in latitudine et in longitudine, a Ducta usque ad Moram versus Lundscofh, cum communi pastura et aliis liberis eisiamentis villæ de Melling, tantæ terræ pertinentibus, et cum adquietancia pannagii duobus porcis in bosco de Melling; in liberam, puram, etc.; pro salute, etc.; ita, etc. Cum warantia et testibus. 8 Melling. Rogerus.

[fol. 79b] Istam terram nobis quietam clamavit Adam filius Aykus de Northcroft.

Istam terram Ricardus Tatlok tenet et reddit per annum vj^{d}, in decessu suo v^{s} et uxoris iij^{s} et sic de hærede et uxore et super mesuagium in quo habitat. (?)

Grant in frankalmoign from Roger, son of Robert, the parson of Halsall [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Melling, within these bounds, to wit, the moiety of all the land lying between the Cockersand acre and land of Gilbert in width, and from the runnel to the moor lying towards Lundscough in length; with common of pasture and other free easements of the town of Melling, and acquittance of pannage for two pigs in Melling wood. [S.D. 1260 c.–1268.]

Adam, son of Ayke de Northcroft, released this land to the said canons.

[In the margin.] Richard Tatlock holds this land [in 1268] rendering yearly sixpence,[1] five shillings at his decease, and three shillings at his wife's decease, and so from heir to heir, and wife to wife, for the messuage in which he dwells.

Thomas.

OMNIBUS, etc., Thomas, filius Siwardi de Melling, salutem. Sciatis me dedisse, etc., quandam porcionem terræ in Melling, scilicet, mesuagia Hardwini hominis Thomæ, et duas landas propinquiores eisdem mesuagiis in aquilone, et ortum unum in occidenti viæ, et assartum qui fuit Ricardi Lancelin infra has divisas, de australi parte ejusdem sartæ in latitudine in aquilone, usque ad sikam de Westemore, sicut nemus et terra dividunt, et sequendo eandem sikam usque ad terram ecclesiæ in longitudine sartæ Ricardi, de tribus londis Henrici usque ad capud occidentale ejusdem Henrici sartæ, et iiij^{or} percatas nemoris ulterius, et sic in transversum usque ad prædictam sikam; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè et honorificè ab omni seculari servicio et exactione, cum communione et eisiamentis feodi mei præfatæ villæ; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

9 Istam terram nobis confirmavit Henricus de Melling, per cartam suam, per easdem divisas, de verbo ad verbum.

Grant in frankalmoign from Thomas, son of Siward de Melling [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Melling, to wit, the messuages of Hardwin, the man of Thomas, and two "lands" lying next on the north to the said messuages, and one orchard on the western side of the road, and the assart which was Richard Lancelin's, lying within these bounds, to wit, from the southern side of that assart in width northward to Westmoor syke, as the underwood and land divide, following that syke to land of the church, the length of Richard's assart, from three "lands" of Henry unto the western head of the same assart, and four perches of the outer underwood, and so across to the aforesaid syke; with common right and easements of his fee. [S.D. 1190–1212.]

[1] "Hæres Ricardi Faldrynges tenet terram vocatam Scolemayster landes, reddit vjd." (Rental of 1461.)

Henry de Melling confirmed this land to the said canons by charter, by the same boundaries word for word.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Thomas, etc., dedi, etc., in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, Deo, etc., totam partem meam tocius terræ quæ continetur infra has divisas, scilicet, de Ruthwait in aquilonali parte sequentem rivulum usque ad Sandiforde, et de Sandiforde in transversum in latitudine usque ad medietatem de Fulwatschahe, et ita Muntando medietatem illius Fulwathschahe, usque ad crucem orientalem stantem super ripam rivuli qui descendit de Mosso in prædicta kar de Fulwathschahe, propinquiorem versus Northcroft, cum communi pastura et omnibus eisiamentis quæ pertinent ad villam de Melling, liberè et quietè ab omni seculari servicio et exactione; ita, etc. Præterea dedi Deo et Beatæ Mariæ, etc., quod Vivianus filius Walteri et hæredes sui post eum habeant pessonam in bosco de Melling quietam suis propriis porcis, sine omni calumpnia mei et hæredum meorum. Hiis testibus.

10 Melling. Idem Thomas. Aliam medietatem dedit nobis Henricus de Mellyng, per cartam et bundatas de verbo in verbum.

Istam terram, per cartam suam, nobis confirmavit Henricus de Melling, per easdem divisas, et de verbo ad verbum usque ad finem.

Grant in frankalmoign from Thomas, son of Siward de Melling, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of all his share of the land which is contained within these bounds, to wit, from Rughthwaite on the southern side following the brook to Sandyford, and from Sandyford across widthwise to the moiety of Fulwath-shaw, and so going up the moiety of that shaw to the eastern cross, which stands upon the bank of the brook, which runs down from the moss to the said carr of Fulwath-shaw, nearest towards Northcroft; with common of pasture, and all easements belonging to Melling. Moreover he granted to God and the blessed Mary, that Vivian, son of Walter, and his heirs, should have mast-fall in Melling wood quit [of pannage] for his own pigs, without claim by the grantor or his heirs. [S.D. 1190–1212.]

Henry de Melling confirmed this land to the said canons by charter, by the same bounds word for word.

[In the margin]—Henry de Melling gave the other moiety to them by charter, by the same bounds word for word.

Henricus. Egirgarth.

Grant in frankalmoign from Henry de Walton[1] [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Eggergarth, to wit, the assart which was Herbert's; with common right and all the easements of his fee in that town, and particularly acquittance of pannage for ten pigs, and free egress for the men who should hold that land of the said brethren. [S.D. 1199–1240.]

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Ranulfus, filius Adæ de Quike, cum consensu et assensu Aliciæ uxoris meæ, dedi, etc., et quietum clamavi de me et hæredibus meis inperpetuum, Deo et Beatæ Mariæ de Cokersand, etc., in liberam, puram, etc., sicut aliqua elemosina melius, etc., pro anima mea et anima uxoris meæ, etc., homagium et servicium Willelmi filii Roberti de Lund 17 Melling. Ranulfus.

[1] Henry de Walton was a younger son of Gilbert, Master-Serjeant of the wapentake of West Derby temp. Henry II., and brother of Richard de Meath, the ancestor of the Ireland family. He had a confirmation of the serjeantry of West Derby from King John in 1199. He died before 1240. In the Survey of 1212, it is stated that Richard le Boteler (Pincerna) gave to Matthew de Walton two oxgangs of land in Eggergarth, by military service, whereof ten carucates make one knight's fee. [In 1212] Henry, son of Gilbert, held that land. (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 811.) I suspect that Matthew is a corrupt reading of Waltheof, or Waldeve, who was the grandfather of Henry de Walton. In 1242, William de Walton, son of the said Henry, held this land for the fortieth part of a knight's fee. (Ibid., fol. 785.)

et hæredum suorum ; ita videlicet, integrè et plenariè, quod nec ego, etc. Concessi etiam domino Abbati et Canonicis de Cokersand, et omnibus hominibus in terra Willelmi filii Roberti de Lund manentibus, pessonam propriis porcis suis in bosco meo de Melling, sine pannagio, et meremium ad terram prædictam edificandum, et ligna ad comburendum, et clausturam ad sepes suas claudendum, sine aliquo inpedimento, de me et hæredibus meis, cum omnibus libertatibus, eisiamentis et pasturis prout continentur in carta prædicti Willelmi filii Roberti de Lund, quam Willelmus filius Simonis prædicto Willelmo et hæredibus suis dedit et concessit infra divisas suas. In hujus rei testimonium, etc.

Release by Ralph, son of Adam de Quick, with the consent of Alice his wife, to God and St. Mary of Cockersand, of the homage and service of William, son of Robert de Lunt, and his heirs ; and grant of mast-fall, quit of pannage, in his wood of Melling, timber for building on their land, and wood for burning and enclosing (haybote), for all the canons' men dwelling upon land of the said William ; together with all liberties, easements, and rights of pasture contained in the charter of the said William, as they were granted to him and his heirs by William, son of Simon. [S.D. 1268–1279.]

[In the margin]—Five charters of Aughton and Eggergarth [not copied].

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Adam, filius Radulphi de Bikerstad, dedi et concessi, assensu hæredum meorum et sponsæ meæ Aviciæ, Deo, etc., tres acras terræ et dimidiam in Bikerstad juxta nemus, cum uno tofto in eadem villa; in puram et perpetuam, [fol. 81.] 1 Bikerstad. Adam.

etc., liberas et solutas et quietas ab omni seculari servicio et exactione. Cum memorato tofto concedo etiam prædictæ domui et prædictis fratribus, communionem omnimodam in bosco et plano, in pratis et pascuis, in aquis et rivis, cum omni libertate ad eandem terram pertinente. Cum warantia et testibus.

Ricardus de Mora nobis, per scriptum suum, remisit totum clamorem et jus quod habuit in prædicta terra, cum pertinenciis suis.

Grant in frankalmoign from Adam, son of Ralph de Bickerstath,[1] with the consent of his heirs, and of Avice his wife, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of three acres and a half in Bickerstath, lying by the wood; together with a toft in the same town, and common rights of all kinds. [S.D. 1190–1206.]

Richard de More released his right in the said land, with the appurtenances, [to the said brethren.][2]

[1] Bickerstaffe, or as it should be more correctly called Bickerstath, was not assessed to Danegeld as a definite township at the date of Domesday. In the twelfth century it was held in thanage by Alan, son of Bernolf, as appears from an ancient schedule of the ferm of West Derby Hundred, preserved in the Pipe Roll of 10 Henry III. This Alan appears to have been living as early as the reign of King Stephen, and to have been the father of Ralph, who gave in alms two cultivations in the Holmes and Stotfaldschagh, to the brethren of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 813.) He was the father of Adam de Bickerstath, the grantor in Charter No. 1, whose son, Ralph, son of Adam, occurs in the Pipe Roll of 6 John, and again in the Survey of 1212, as holding half a carucate of land in Bickerstath of the King in chief, in thanage by the yearly service of 5*s*. (Ibid.)

According to the same authority, Hugh de Moreton, and Margery his wife, one of the daughters and coheirs of Richard, son of Roger, thane of Woodplumpton, held one oxgang of this land for 21*d*. of Henry, son of Elsi or Elias (see No. 3); and Adam, son of Walter, held the third part of the half carucate of the said Ralph, son of Adam, for 20*d*. yearly service. (Ibid.) The heir of Ralph appears to have been Adam de Bickerstath, against whom, with Simon his brother and others, Alan de Bickerstath brought a writ of novel disseisin at Lancaster Assizes in 1246, respecting the third part of half a carucate of land in Bickerstath (Assize Roll, No. 404, m 3*d*.). Adam was succeeded by his son, Sir Ralph de Bickerstath, knt., who was living in 1297, in which year he was returned in the inquisition taken after the death of Edmund, Earl of Lancaster, as tenant of the Manor of Bickerstath. (Escaeta, 25 Edward I., No. 51.) He was Sheriff of Lancaster from the 2 to 8 Edward II., 1308–1314. During the three last years of his office his son acted as Deputy Sheriff. Adam de Bickerstath, son and heir of Sir Ralph, held Bickerstath in socage in the year 1346. (Chetham Soc., vol. lxxiv. pt. 2, p. 35.) By Joan his wife, who was living in 5 Edward III., he had a son Ralph, upon whom he settled two-thirds of the manor of Bickerstath, by Fine levied at Westminster, in Easter Term, 5 Edward III. Ralph was succeeded by his son and heir Adam, who settled his estates upon his daughter Jane Bickerstath, and her husband Sir Nicholas de Atherton, in 50 Edward III., A.D. 1377. (Piccope MSS., vol. ix. p. 375 b.)

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Radulphus, filius Adæ de Bickerstad concessi Deo, etc., totam donacionem patris mei Adæ, quam Deo et prædictis fratribus, tam in villa quam extra de Bikerstad dedit, scilicet, toftum unum in orientali parte, et tres acras et dimidiam in occidentali parte ejusdem villæ; in puram et perpetuam, etc., cum libera communione et eisiamentis feodi mei prædictæ villæ, in puram elemosinam confirmavi, liberam et solutam ab omni exactione seculari et servicio; pro salute, etc. Cum testibus. 2 Bikerstad. Radulphus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Ralph, son of Adam de Bickerstath, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of the grant which Adam his father made to the said brethren, both within the town of Bickerstath and without, to wit, a toft in the eastern part of the town, and three acres and a half of land in the western part thereof; with common right and easements. [S.D. 1206–1246.]

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Radulphus, etc., dedi, etc., assensu et consensu Henrici filii Heliæ, Deo, etc., duas acras terræ meæ in Bikerstad, propinquiores tribus acris et dimidiæ quas prius dederam eis in elemosinam, in parte australi; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni exactione seculari et servicio, cum communione et eisiamentis feodi mei prædictæ villæ. Cum warantia et testibus. 3 Bikerstad. Idem.

Grant in frankalmoign from Ralph [son of Adam de Bickerstath, to the canons of Cockersand], with the consent of Henry, son of Elias, of two acres of his land in Bickerstath, next to three acres and a half which he formerly gave them on the western side; with common right and easements. [S.D. 1206–1246.]

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Eswardus, filius Roberti de Bikerstad dedi, etc., unam porcionem terræ meæ in Bikerstad, scilicet juxta Wildemereford ex utraque parte viæ, et inter Witeleche et Orfelles usque ad crucem, cum communione et eisiamentis feudi mei prædictæ villæ; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè 4 Bikerstad. 5 MEMORANDUM quod frater Adam Abbas de Cokersand feoffavit Simonem de Bikirstath in præscriptis parcellis terræ, sicut cartæ præscriptæ inde testantur; tenendas et habendas pro homagio et servicio suo, sibi et hæredibus suis, vel cuicunque de corpore suo procreatis assignare voluerit, liberè, etc. Reddendo inde annuatim duos solidos sterlingorum, ad Pascha et festum Sancti Michaelis; in decessu suo et hæredum suorum vel suorum assignatorum, dimidia Marca ecclesiæ de Cokersand persolvetur, et in decessu uxoris eorundem quatuor solidi ecclesiæ prædictæ persolventur.

6 Istos duos solidos annuatim solvendos confirmavit dominus Radulphus de Bikerstath, Miles, cum dimidia Marca in obitu cujuslibet tenentis terram memoratam, subjiciens tenementum districcioni et cohercioni prædictorum religiosorum quousque fuerint de prædicta pecunia satisfactum. Et Adam de Bikerstath filius ejus et hæres, concessit pro se, hæredibus et assignatis suis, quod si contingat prædictam firmam in aliquo termino aretro existere, quod quinque solidi persolventur pro quolibet termino non observato, et etiam si in obitu suo, hæredum vel assignatorum, prædicta dimidia Marca contigerit aretro existere, quod tunc una Marca argenti pro dimidia Marca non soluta persolvetur. Et ad istam convencionem fideliter tenendam, obligavit Manerium suum de Bikerstath et omnia bona infra dominium de Bikerstath inventa, districcioni prædictorum Abbatis et Conventus et eorum successorum, quousque in forma prædicta eis fuerit plenariè satisfactum.

Be it remembered that brother Adam, Abbot of Cockersand, has enfeoffed Simon de Bickerstath in the above-named parcels of land, as the above-written charters thereunto bear witness; to hold for his homage and service to him and his heirs, or to whomsoever begotten of his body he may wish to assign the same, rendering yearly two shillings sterling at Easter and St. Michael. At his decease, or the decease of his heirs or assigns, half a mark shall be paid to the Church of Cockersand, and at the decease of any wife of the same, four shillings shall be paid. [S.D. 1268–1272 c.]

Sir Ralph de Bickerstath, knight, confirmed these two shillings so yearly to be paid, with half a mark at the death of every tenant of that land, subjecting the said tenement to distraint and restraint of the said religious, until they should be satisfied of the said sum. Adam de Bickerstath, his son and heir, likewise granted for himself, his heirs and assigns, that if the said ferm happened at any time to be in arrear, five shillings should be paid for every term-day which had not been observed; and so also at his death, or the death of his heirs or assigns, if the said half mark should happen to be in arrear, one mark of silver should be paid for every half mark unpaid. In the faithful observance of this agreement, he subjected his Manor of Bickerstath, and all his goods found within the demesne of Bickerstath, to the distraint of the said Abbot and Convent, and their successors, until full satisfaction should be made them in form aforesaid. [V.D. 1268 c. to 1320 c.]

Grant in frankalmoign from Gilbert de Scarisbrick[2] [to the canons of Cockersand], of a toft in Scarisbrick which belonged to Hugh, lying

[1] It appears by this release that Simon de Bickerstath resigned to the Abbey the land which he held of them in fee farm by two shillings yearly service, as the same had been conveyed to his ancestor in the deed No. 5.

[2] Scarisbrick and Hurleton are identified with the "Hirletun" and "the moiety of Merretun" of the Domesday Survey, which Uctred held in 1066 for half a hide. It was then worth 10*s.* 8*d.* It is a somewhat curious fact that the service—or as it is there called the "geld of the teamlands"—rendered for these estates in Domesday, between the brook and the highway, and between the toft of Richard the Miller and the first field-dale; and an acre in Peas-acres, whereof the southern head extends to Adam's plot; with common right and easements, and especially acquittance of pannage for the pigs of the canons' tenant of that land. [S.D. 1200 c.–1238.]

Scaresbrec. Walterus. [2]

SCIANT [omnes tam præsentes quam futuri], quod ego Walterus de Scaresbreck dedi, et [concessi, et hac præsenti carta mea confirmavi Deo et Beatæ Mariæ de Kokersand, et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus], unam acram [terræ] de dominico meo in [villa de] Scaresbrec, [illam] scilicet, quæ jacet propinquius terræ eorumdem canonicorum versus aquilonem, quam habent ex dono patris mei, et unum buth propinquius tofto versus aquilonem, quod Siwardus tenuit; in liberam, puram amounted for the half hide to eight shillings, the identical service for which Scarisbrick and Hurleton were held by the family of Lathom in the 12th, 13th, and 14th centuries.

(1) Gilbert de Scarisbrick, the grantor in No. 1, was lord of Scarisbrick and Hurleton under the Lathoms, and died before 1246. He was the father of (2) Walter, the grantor in No. 2, living 1238-1266, who, by his wife Margery, had issue Henry his heir, Simon called "del Shawe," Richard, and Godith. (3) Henry de Scarisbrick, the grantor in No. 3, made an agreement with Nicholas, prior of Burscough, touching the boundary between Burscough and Hurleton [A.D. 1260–1272], and was the father of (4) Gilbert, who in 1303 confirmed with Richard, prior of Burscough, the agreement made by his father. He was living in 1339, and was succeeded by his eldest son (5) Gilbert, called junior in 1339, whose will bears date 23rd September, and was proved at Ormskirk, 31st September, 1359. By his wife Joan, daughter of John de Kirkby, whom he married 14 Edward II., he had issue Henry, Gilbert, Richard, and Eleanor, the wife of Robert de Hurleton. (6) Henry made an agreement in 1396 with John, prior of Burscough, touching the boundary of Hurleton. By his wife Eleanor, he had issue Sir Henry de Scarisbrick, knt., and Elizabeth, the wife of Gilbert, eldest son and heir of Thomas de Barton, of Barton in Amounderness, in 1397. He left at his death a widow Joan, who survived until after 1433. (7) Sir Henry, by his wife Isabel, had issue Henry, William, Gilbert, Ellen, the wife of Robert de Halsall in 1405, and Isabel, the wife of Richard, son of Roger de Bradshaw of Litherland in 1418. (8) Henry, by his first wife Katharine, had probably issue (9) a son, who would appear to have been the father of (10) James Scarisbrick of Scarisbrick, Justice of the Peace, and Constable of Lancaster in 1476, from whom descended (11) Gilbert, (12) Thomas, (13) James, and (14) Edward, who had an only daughter Elizabeth, the wife of William Stanley (Visitation of 1567). From Edward the succession to the estates is said to have passed to his cousin Thomas Scarisbrick of Borwick, from whom descends the Count de Castéja, present owner of the Scarisbrick estates. This descent has been compiled from charters in this volume, from others contained in the Register of Burscough Priory, and from abstracts of deeds at Scarisbrick Hall, made by the Rev. E. Powell, of Lydiate, and printed in vols. xi. and xii. (N.S.) of the Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire.

pastura animalium.

[1] Thornton, in the parish of Sefton, containing four carucates of land, was held in moieties by the Barons of Warrington and Molyneux of Sefton. Of the former estate, Pain de Villers gave one carucate to Elwin before the year 1160. In 1212, Gilbert, son of Elwin, held it (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 810), and was probably the father of the above Robert.

Henrico de Kerdin, Henrico Travers, Avardo de Bikerstad, Alano de Windull.][1]

Grant in frankalmoign from Adam de Garston to God and St. Mary, and the brethren of Cockersand, of six acres of his demesne of Garston,[2] to wit, in Aigburth at the western head on the south side, with pasture for five hundred sheep, and twenty cows with their offspring of two years, and for oxen and draught horses, together with common right and easements of his fee. Witnesses—Benedict Gernet, Richard de Molyneux, Richard Blundel, Robert de Byron, Henry de Walton, Robert, son of Osbert [de Ainsdale], Richard, the clerk of Thornton, Henry de Cuerden, Henry Travers, Award de Bickerstath, and Alan de Windhull. [S.D. 1190–1206.]

[1] Add. MSS., 32,105, fol. 10 b.

[2] Though Garston and Aigburth are not mentioned by name in the Domesday Survey, it is probable that they were included in the four hides which composed the demesne manor of West Derby. By Count Roger the Poictevin, Garston was bestowed upon his sheriff Godfrey soon after 1088, and by Godfrey was given in alms to the Abbey of St. Peter of Shrewsbury, the favourite religious foundation in England of the family of Montgomery. This grant was confirmed by Count Roger in, or soon after, the year 1093, and later by Henry I. between 1120 and 1122, and by Ranulf Gernons, Earl of Chester, in 1141–2. In the latter confirmation we have the first mention of the tenant of Garston, in the person of Richard, son of Multon, who is therein curtly directed, as he loves the Earl's favour, to perform his service for Garston to the Abbey, the Earl releasing him from all services belonging to Garston, claiming nothing therefor but the prayers of the religious. Finally, between 1153 and 1160, Reginald de Warren, on behalf of William, Earl of Warren, and Count of Boulogne and Mortain, confirmed Garston to the said Abbey.

The Survey of 1212 gives the following details of infeudations made by Multon to his sons. Hugh, son of Henry, son of Multon, held three oxgangs in 1212 of ancient tenure for 22½*d*. yearly service, by the grant of Multon [to the said Henry]. Thomas, another grandson (?), held four oxgangs in 1212, by 2*s*. 6*d*. Henry, son of Matthew (son of Multon ?), held three oxgangs in 1212, by 22½*d*. The eldest son of the said Multon was Richard de Garston, named above, whose son Adam was lord of Garston during the reigns of Henry II., Richard I., and possibly a few years of King John's reign. In 1212, Margaret his widow was of the King's donation, her land being worth half a mark. Afterwards she was married to Richard de Liverpool. (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 662.) Adam gave one acre to the Abbey of Cockersand (Nos. 1 and 5), and two acres to the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. To his brother Simon he gave three oxgangs by 22½*d*. In 1212, Adam his son, then in his minority, held Garston, being four carucates of land, of the King in chief in thanage by the yearly service of 20*s*. (Ibid., fol. 813.) He died in 1265, John his son, fining for his relief, had livery by writ dated 21st May, 1265. (Fine Roll, 49 Hen. III., m 3.) The said John was succeeded by Adam de Garston, who held Garston of Edmund, Earl of Lancaster, at the time of the latter's death in 1297. (Escaeta, 25 Edw. I., No. 51.) He appears to have had issue an only daughter, Ellen, who married Robert de Blackburn of Downham, to whom she brought the manor of Garston. (Extent of 1322, Chetham Lib., No. 6702, f. 64.)

King's donation circa 1212. In addition to her manor of Kirkdale, she held one-fourth part of Formby (one teamland) by serjeanty, viz., to conduct the King's treasury as far as Blakebrook, when the Court passed through the county. Before 1212, this teamland had been granted to Jordan de Thornhill and his wife Quenild, by William, son of Norman, to hold of Quenild de Kirkdale by the yearly service of 2*s.*, which service the latter gave to Cockersand Abbey by the above charter. (Testa, vol. ii. ff. 815–6.) (2) Quenild, wife of Jordan de Thornhill, in 1212 held a teamland here in thanage, by the yearly service of 4*s.* 8*d.*, of the inheritance of her father, Richard, son of Roger, the well-known thane of Woodplumpton. She married secondly, Roger Gernet of Halton, chief forester of Lancaster, and at her death in the 36 Henry III., was seised of both of the above teamlands. Subsequently the heirs of Woodplumpton continued to hold these two estates. (3) The other moiety of the town was given by King John to Richard de Meath, and subsequently descended in the family of Walton. (See Lancashire Final Concords, Record Soc., vol. xxxix. p. 138 n.)

[1] Ravensmeols and Ainsdale were given by Henry II. to Warin de Lancaster, the royal falconer, and were confirmed by John, when Count of Mortain (1189–1194), to Henry, son and heir of Warine, and again in 1199 and 1208, after John's accession to the Crown. (Charter Rolls, 1 John, m. 5; 9 John, m. 4.) "Henry de Lea gave in almoign two messuages [in Ravensmeols] to the said Abbot [of Cockersand]." (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 814.) See Nos. 1, 2, and 3. In 1212, Edwin held two oxgangs of Henry de Lea by his gift for 5*s.* yearly; Robert (? son of Edwin) and Thomas, son of Sigg, each held one oxgang for 3*s.* yearly by the gift of Henry. (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 815.) See Nos. 3, 4, and 5. According to the Domesday Survey, three thanes held "Mele" in 1066, for three manors, in which there was half a hide, i.e., three teamlands. As in the case of Ainsdale, the Saxon possessors do not appear to have retained possession of their estates after the Conquest, or possibly they may have declined in status to mere tillers of the soil. Thus Ravensmeols continued to be a member of the Comitial demesne until granted to Warine.

Grant in frankalmoign from Adam, son of Godfrey, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of one oxgang of land in Ainsdale,[1] to wit, that [1] As already stated in the note on p. 565, Ainsdale was given by Henry II., with other estates, to Warine de Lancaster, the royal falconer, and ancestor of the family of Lea. From the Domesday Survey we learn that in 1066 three thanes held Einuluesdel, where there were two teamlands or carucates. From the fact that this estate was afterwards in the hands of Henry II., it is probable that the three Domesday thanes or their successors suffered confiscation during the forty troublous years which succeeded the Conquest of England.

The following series of forty-five charters gives absolute proof of the four earliest descents of the Blundell family of Crosby, who were considerable benefactors to Cockersand Abbey in the thirteenth century. Robert, son of Osbert de Aynulvisdale, made grants in Charters Nos. 7 to 11, his brother Richard in Nos. 12 to 30; Warine, son of the said Richard, in Nos. 5 and 6; Adam, son of Robert de Aynulvisdale, in Nos. 36 to 40; and his son, Sir Robert Blundell, knt., in Nos. 42 and 45. There are four other grants by Adam, son of Godfrey, Nos. 1 to 4, and a Composition, No. 41. Godfrey, the father of this Adam, may possibly have been a brother of Osbert, the tenant of Ainsdale under Warin de Lancaster, in the time of Henry II. Adam, son of Godfrey, was probably the father of Emma, wife of Lawrence, son of Thomas, the grantor of the charters Nos. 31 to 35. They had a son Robert, described as "clerk of Ainsdale" in Charter No. 43, in which he appears to have released all his title to land in Ainsdale to Cockersand Abbey. This township is thus described in the Survey of 1212: "Robert, son of Osbert, holds two teamlands [in Ainsdale] and two oxgangs of land [in Ravensmeols] by ancient feoffment of the said Henry [de Lea], for which was Ughtred's, with the appurtenances, making up in Atefield and in Wray from his other oxgangs as much as he had previously given them in the same furlongs; and in like manner as much as he had given them elsewhere, he would elsewhere restore. [S.D. 1190–1216.]

the yearly service of 10s. and to be reeve." (Testa, vol. ii. fol. 814.) From this it would appear that Osbert and his predecessors had been possessed of Ainsdale long before the year 1212. In the fourteenth century his descendants, the Blundells of Crosby, held this estate of the Hoghtons of Hoghton, to which family it had descended, with many other estates, by marriage with the heiress of Lea. (See note, p. 207.)

Many of the place-names which occur in this series of charters have a strong Scandinavian ring, such as Romsdale, Oddis-herhe (or argh), Stardale, Narwedale, &c. Some of them might have been suggested to the Norsemen settlers, in giving names to their newly-acquired estates, by the places well remembered in the land of their birth.

Si aliqua demanda huic terræ inposterum evenerit, de residuo villæ adquietabitur; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Richard, son of Henry de Torbock* to God and St. Werburgh, of Warburton, of a portion of his land in Torbock, to wit, an assart called "Old Torbock," whereof the eastern head extends to Holywell-brook, going down the same to Cockshoot-head, ascending the same to Cockshoot, and going down the same to Oldfield-leach, going up the same to the head of the old hedge, and so following the hedge to Holywell-brook;

* Richard, son of Henry, ancestor of the Torbocks of Torbock, was brother of Robert, son of Henry de Lathom. (See the preceding note).

with common right, easements, and liberties of his fee, and particularly acquittance of pannage for the demesne pigs of those who should hold that land of the said brethren. [S.D. 1180—1200 c.]

Windul. Radulphus.

OMNIBUS, etc., Radulphus, filius Adæ de Prestecote salutem. Sciatis me dedisse, etc., quandam porcionem terræ meæ in Windul, scilicet, Herthefellige, per has divisas, in orientali parte de Felleclohc usque ad profundum Mosleche apud Windul, sub capite nemoris de Mosleche per vallem in rectitudine iterum apud orientem, usque ad divisam de Par; in liberam, puram, etc., liberè, quietè, integrè, et plenariè, ab omni seculari servicio et exactione, cum communione et omnibus eisiamentis et libertatibus ad villam de Windul pertinentibus; illi verò qui prædictam terram de dictis fratribus tenuerint quieti erunt in pannagio; pro salute, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Ista terra reddit xii.d. et Petrus de Burnul tenet in feodo, et in decessu dimidiam Marcam.

Istam terram per prædictas divisas dedit Alanus filius Alani de Windul dicto Radulpho, per cartam quam penes nos habemus, in escambio pro duabus bovatis terræ quas habuit in Windul.

Grant in frankalmoign from Ralph, son of Adam de Prescot [to the canons of Cockersand] of a portion of his land in Windle, to wit, Earthfellinge, by these bounds, on the eastern side of Fell clough to the deep Moss leach at Windle, below the head of Moss leach wood, through the valley by a straight line to the east again, and so to the boundary of Parr; with common right and easements of Windle, and acquittance of pannage for the tenants of the said brethren. [S.D. 1201.]

Alan, son of Alan de Windhull, gave this land by the above bounds to the said Ralph, by a charter in the possession of the canons [in 1268], in exchange for two oxgangs of land which he had in Windle.

[In the Margin.] This land renders 12d. yearly, and [in 1268] Peter de Burnhull holds it in fee; at his decease half a mark.

NOVERINT præsentes et futuri quod ego Alanus, filius Alani de Windul concessi et præsenti carta confirmavi Deo, etc., cum consensu et assensu hæredum meorum, totam terram de Hertfellinge, infra cruces circa illam positas, liberè et quietè, pacificè, et honorificè pro me et hæredibus meis, cum communi pastura et cum omnibus aliis eisiamentis quæ pertinent advillam de Windul; ita videlicet, quod nec ego, etc. Quamterram, scilicet Herfellinge, Radulphus de Windul cepit in escambio propter hæreditatem suam quam habuit in Windul. Et omnes homines super eandem terram habitantes infra cruces, in pannagio sint quieti inperpetuum; et prædictus Radulphus in multura sit quietus. Hiis testibus.

* The families of Windhull and Pemberton appear to have sprung from the same stock. Pagan de Villers I. gave one teamland in "Wyndhille" to Vivian Gernet in marriage with Emma his daughter, by military service where ten teamlands make the fee of one knight. In the year 1212, Alan, son of Alan, held the land of Wyndhille, of Robert de Villers, who had become possessed of the Gernet's mesne tenancy. (Testa ii., f. 810). The said Alan, described as Alan de Pemberton, held two teamlands in Pemberton in thanage, rendering yearly 20s., and performing the service of doomsman or judge, but he was mesne tenant only, and Adam de Pemberton held them of Alan. Under the said Adam, Henry, son of Lawrence, held four oxgangs, parcel of the two teamlands, by ancient feoffment. Again, Alan, son of Aldith, held one oxgang, parcel of the said four oxgangs of the said Henry. In the time of King John (before 1212), Adam de Pemberton gave one oxgang of land to the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem (Ibid. f. 829). Alan de Windhull had succeeded his father on or before the 10 year of Richard I., and in the 1 John, 1201, he gave ten marks to have seizin of his land of Pemberton, which had been seized into the king's hands by precept, and for his relief, and also to have a writ of right against Nicholas le Boteler respecting 40s. which he said he had rendered to him for his relief. His sureties for payment were Richard de Orrell, five marks, and Henry de Melling, five marks. (Fine Roll, 1 John, m. 7). At Lancaster Assizes, 25th Oct. to 7th Nov., 1202, a fine was levied between Edusa, formerly the wife of Alan de Windhulle, and Alan, son of Alan (her son), respecting her dower in the free tenements which her late husband held in Skelmersdale, Syfrethelegh, Pemberton, and Windull. Alan granted to her for life various premises in Pemberton and Skelmersdale, and one-third part of the mill of Skelmersdale, and also three marks, twenty-two pence, and sixteen woodland mares. (Final Concords, Lanc., 2 John, No. 62). Alan de Windhull, II., by his wife Agnes, had issue, Sir Alan de Windhull, Knt. (cf. Whalley Coucher, p. 499; Fine Roll, 43 Hen. III., m. 10), who appears to have had daughters only, one of whom probably married Peter de Burnhull, who held the manor of Windle of William le Boteler in the time of Edward II. (Feodary of 1322); and a daughter Amabil, who married Walter de Motton, of Ribchester, both being alive on the 11th Aug., 1230, when they proffered half a mark to the Exchequer, for a writ to take an assize of novel disseisin against Swain de Hothersall. (Fine Roll, 14 Hen. III., m. 2).

whole land of Hartfelling, within the crosses placed around the same, with common of pasture and all easements belonging to the town of Windle, which land Ralph de Windhull took in exchange for his inheritance in Windle; with acquittance of pannage for all the men dwelling on that land, and acquittance of multure for the said Ralph. Grant in frankalmoign from Matthew de Holland[1] to God [and the canons or Cockersand] of a portion of his land in [Up] Holland,[2] within these bounds, from the boundary between Holland

[1] Matthew de Holland, ancestor of the noble family of Holland, and Alan de Holland held two teamlands in Up Holland, of Henry de Melling in 1202, by the yearly service of 12s. (Testa ii., f. 812.) By fine levied at Lancaster, 5th Nov., 1202, Ughtred de Church released his right in fourteen oxgangs of land in Up Holland to Matthew de Holland (Final Concords, Lanc., 4 John, No. 14). Matthew probably had issue Robert de Holland (see the following charter), who was the father of Thurstan de Holland.

* The earliest recorded thane of Bold after the Conquest was Tuger Senex, i.e. the elder, who enfeoffed Alberta (probably his daughter) of half a teamland for the yearly service of 3s. 6d. It is probable that this land was the "Quick," and that her husband was Alan, the grantor by the above charter of land to Cockersand Abbey, and father of Henry de la Quick. The Survey of 1212 states that Henry, son of Alberta, then held this land of Adam de Bold. Tuger Senex, who was probably living in the time of Stephen, had perhaps enfeoffed Gilbert of four oxgangs of land for the yearly service of 3s. 6d., which Richard, his son, held in 1212, of Adam de Bold. Probably Tuger Senex had a son and heir, Tuger Juvenis, or younger, father of Richard de Bold, who had issue a son, Adam de Bold, great-grandson of Tuger Senex. According to the Survey of 1212 this Adam then held four teamlands in Bold and "La Quick" of the King in chief, by thanage and the yearly service of 21s. 4d. His father, Richard, had given in frankalmoign to the Hospital of Chester one acre of land, and to the Priory of Norton an assart (Testa II., f. 813). Adam died before 27th June, 1222, upon which date the King sent a writ to the Sheriff of Lancaster to take two teamlands in Bold into the King's hands, which Adam de Bold formerly held, and which Matthew, his brother, now holds, until he should come and show by what warrant he held them. (Fine Roll, 6 Henry III., No. 4.) By writ dated 12th May, 1223, Matthew having fined for his relief 40s. for three teamlands in Bold, the Sheriff was directed to give him seisin thereof. (Fine Roll, 7 Hen. III., No. 5.) He was succeeded by Robert, his son and heir, who by fine levied at York, 3rd Nov., 1301, settled the manor of Bold upon his eldest son, Richard. (Final Concords, Lanc., 29 Edw. I., No. 113.) The said Robert, by a previous fine levied at Westminster, 1st July, 1297, had entailed several estates in Bold upon his said eldest son, Richard, with remainders to Peter and Matthew, younger brothers of the said Richard. Ultimately the second son, Peter de Bold, succeeded to the manor of Bold, upon the death of his elder brother without issue. The earlier generations of the printed pedigree of Bold will be found by reference to these notes to be very incorrect. See Baines' Hist. of Lanc., edit. 1893, Vol. V., p. 24.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Willelmus, filius Benedicti de Lideyate dedi, etc., Deo etc., totam partem meam de Orsaheheued infra has diuisas, scilicet, in longitudine de fouea propinquiori prædictæ terræ in austro, usque ad uiam quæ se extendit de Lydiate apud Orshahe; in latitudine uerò a fouea propinquiori prædictæ terræ in orientali parte, usque ad foueam propinquiorem prædictæ terræ in occidentali parte apud Oresahelawe, et sequendo illam foueam usque Orsahesike, et sic sequendo Orsahesike usque ad foueam propinquiorem quæ cadit in Orsahesike, et sic sequendo illam foueam usque ad viam quæ se extendit de Lydiate apud Orshahe, et sic in rectitudine usque ad crucem, et sic de cruce usque ad quercum propinquiorem prædictæ uiæ, et a prædicta quercu usque ad propinquiorem foueam apud orientem, et sic sequendo illam foueam usque ad foueam prænominatam in austro, et sic sequendo illam foueam ad foueam prænominatam in occidentali parte apud Orsahelawe; in puram et perpetuam, etc., cum communi pastura et eisiamentis villæ de Lydiate, scilicet, pastura xij. vaccis cum sequela duorum annorum, et iiij^{or} bobus et tribus equabus cum sequela duorum annorum, et pessonam xx^{ti} porcis, capras, et oues ad libitum. Ita quod nec ego, etc. Hiis testibus, etc.

Grant in frankalmoign from William, son of Benedict de Lydiate,[1] to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of his part of

[1] Pagan de Vilers I. gave 6 oxgangs of land in Lydiate to William Gernet to hold by military service, where ten teamlands make the fee of one knight. In 1212, Benedict, son of Simon [de Halsall], and Alan [de Halsall], his brother, held these oxgangs of William le Boteler. (Testa. II., f. 810). Dr. Kuerden assumed that this Simon was the Simon, son of Stainulf. of Charter No. 6, but of this there is no proof. Certainly the Doctor was very wide of the mark when he drew up a pedigree showing Stainulf to have been a son of Vivian Gernet, by Emma de Vilers his wife. A child of purely Norman descent would not be likely to bear the name of Stainulf. Proof that the "de Lydiate" and "de Halsall" families sprang from the two brothers referred to above is found in a charter of Alan de Halsall and Alice his wife, in which by the description of Alan de Lidhet (Lydiate) he gave lands in Halsall, called Run-

Orshaw-head, within these bounds, to wit, in length from the dyke next on the south to that land, to the road which leads from Lydiate at Orshaw; in breadth from the dyke next that land on the western side at Orshaw-law, following that dyke to Orshaw-syke, and so following that syke to the next dyke which falls into Orshaw-syke, following that dyke to the road which leads from Lydiate at Orshaw, and so in a straight line to the cross, from the cross to the oak-tree next that road, and from that oak-tree to the next dyke on the east, following that dyke to the aforesaid dyke on the south, and so following that dyke to the aforesaid dyke on the western side at Orshaw-law; with common of pasture and easements of the town of Lydiate, to wit, pasture for twelve cows with their offspring of two years, four oxen, and three mares with their offspring of two years, and mastfall for twenty pigs, [and pasture] for goats and sheep "ad libitum." [S.D. 1212—1233.]

[In the margin.] Adam, son of Robert de Orshaw, holds that land [in 1268] by inheritance, rendering yearly 12d., half a mark at his decease, and he is bound to do homage.

[2] Lydiate. Simon.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Simon, filius Alani de Halsale dedi, etc., totam partem meam de Orsaheheued Infra has diuisas, etc., sicut in præcedenti carta de uerbo ad uerbum usque ad finem, cum eisdem diuisis, libertatibus et pastura totidem animalibus. Et eisdem testibus.

acres and Waleton, to the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. (Ince Charter, quoted in Lydiate Hall and its Associations, by the Rev T. E. Gibson, 1876, p. 21). See also the charter of Halsall, postea p. 637. Alan de Halsall was the father of Simon, who had issue Richard, the father of Gilbert, who was party to Final Concords in 1256 and 1280. He was the father of Gilbert II., who had Otho, who had Gilbert III., who had Henry, called clerk, and Robert, who succeeded to the estates, and married Elen, daughter of Henry de Scarisbrick in the 6 Henry IV.

Returning to Benedict de Lydiate, we find mention of him with his brother Alan, in a Final Concord levied in the year 1202, respecting two-thirds of two oxgangs of land in Gildus and Sureheved, in Lydiate, by which Simon Blundell and Sigherid his wife released their right in that land to Benedict and Alan. (Final Concords 4 John, No. 29). Benedict had issue William de Lydiate, who held Lydiate in 1242 by military service, as of the fee of Ailmer le Boteler (Testa II., f. 785). He appears to have been the father or grandfather of Benedict II., who had issue by his wife Alice, two sons —John, who held three-fourths of Lydiate of Sir William le Boteler in 1322 (from whom ultimately descended Katherine, who married firstly, circa 1375, Robert de Blackburn, and, secondly, Nicholas (son of Robert Parr); and Richard, whose daughter Cecily married Elias de Akulshagh. (Ince Deeds).

[8] Item Habemus cartam Willelmi Albi de Gildus nobis datam, de tota parte sua in Orsaheheued, per easdem divisas de uerbo ad uerbum continentem sicut in priori carta, et pastura totidem animalibus et eisdem libertatibus. Et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Simon, son of Alan de Halsall [to the canons of Cockersand], of all his share of Orshaw-head, within the bounds set forth in the preceding charter, and with pasture for as many animals. [S.D. 1220 c—1233.]

The canons also had the charter of William White, of Gildhus, of his share of Ordshaw-head, which he gave to them by the same bounds contained in the first charter, and with pasture for as many animals. [S.D. 1220 c—1233.]

[S.D. 1190—1240.]

[1] The manor of Hurleston, in the township of Scarisbrick, was held of the Scarisbricks who held the two manors by military service of the Lathoms of Lathom. Ulf was the father of Roger, lord of Hurleston (Nos. 1 to 4)—who died before 1246, leaving two boys (No. 5). At Lancaster Assizes in 1246, Roger de Hurleton was summoned to answer the Abbot of Cockersand in a plea to warrant to him forty-eight acres of land in Hurleton, which he held by the gift of Robert, father of the said Roger, whose heir he was, by the boundaries contained in the charter of the said Robert. Afterwards they made concord. (Assize Rolls, Lanc., No. 404, m. 9.)

[5] Hurlton. Rogerus.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Rogerus, filius Roberti de Hurlton dedi, etc., quandam partem terræ meæ infra diuisam de Hurlton, scilicet, unam acram inter australe latus de Grenelond et Heselenegreues, scilicet, ad occidental ecaput terræ prædictorum canonicorum, quam habent ex dono patris mei, et unam altam acram, scilicet, quiteland et blakeland, quæ jacet in orientali parte prædictæ quiteland, et unam acram in orto proximam viæ quæ transit de Halleforde uersus uillam; et mesuagium Lewini cum dimidio sellione in crofto de dominico meo, cum communi pastura et libertatibus, et liberis eisiamentis prædictæ villæ pertinentibus; in liberam, puram, etc.; pro salute, etc. Ita quod nec ego nec, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Roger, son of Robert de Hurleston [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Hurleston, to wit, an acre of land between the south side of Greenland and Haselen-greaves, that is at the western head of the said canons' land, which they had by the gift of his father; and one high acre, to wit, Whiteland and Blakeland, lying on the eastern side of the said Whiteland, and also an acre in the garden next to the road which runs from Hallford towards the town; and Lewin's messuage with half a seillon in his demesne croft, with common of pasture, liberties and easements. [S.D. 1246—1268.]

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Willelmus Pincerna dedi, etc., Deo, etc., unum burgagium in Werintona, scilicet, unam acram terræ cum omnibus pertinenciis et libertatibus burgagii, tam in uilla quam extra uillam ; in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, liberè, quietè et integrè, ab omni exaccione seculari et seruicio, videlicet, inter exuluum Gonde et Gilbertum fialatorem ; pro salute animæ meæ et sponsæ meæ, etc. Hiis testibus. [fol. 98b.] Werintona Willelmus Pincerna.

Grant in frankalmoign from William le Boteler [of Warrington, to the canons of Cockersand] of a burgage in Warrington, to wit, one acre of land with all the appurtenances and liberties of a burgage, within the town and without, namely [the burgage] between the exile (?) Gonde and Gilbert the Violer. [S.D. 1200 c —1233].

OMNIBUS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ, etc., Willelmus Pincerna salutem. Sciatis me dedisse, etc., Deo, etc., quoddam burgagium in villa de Werinton, in Croftis, scilicet, illud quod Præsbiter tenuit, et unam acram in campo prædictæ uillæ ; in puram et perpetuam, etc., cum communione et eisiamentis et libertatibus eidem burgagio pertinentibus, liberè et quietè ab omni exaccione seculari et seruicio. Confirmo etiam eis omnes racionabiles donaciones in feodo meo eis datas, sicut cartæ donatorum testantur ; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus. Werinton. Idem.

Habemus etiam cartam Roberti Clerici de Werinton Astino Pellipario factam de dicto burgagio cum pertinenciis. Et habemus quietam clamanciam dicti Astini Pelliparii nobis factam de dicto burgagio cum pertinenciis, pro xl. solidis sibi pacatis præ manibus in necessitate sua. Habemus plures cartas de Werynton quam hic sunt.

Grant in frankalmoign from William le Boteler [to the canons of Cockersand] of a burgage in the town of Warrington, in the Crofts, to wit, that which the priest held, and an acre of land in the townfields; with common right, easements, and liberties belonging to that burgage. Further, he confirmed to the said canons all the reasonable grants made to them within his fee, as the charters of the grantors duly testify. [S.D. 1200 c—1233.]

They also had the charter of Robert the Clerk made to Astin the Skinner, respecting the said burgage. And the release of the said Astin the Skinner to them respecting the same, in consideration of 40s. which they paid into his hands in his need.

Confirmation by Robert, son of Robert Banastre,[1] to God [and the canons of Cockersand] of all the lands which they had by the gift of [those whose names follow, as their respective charters, which the said canons have, duly testify] —

By the gift of Robert, his father, in the town of Hindley;
„ „ Richard, son of Robert de Hindley, in the same town ;
„ „ Adam de Hindley, in the same town ;
„ „ Godith, daughter of Adam de Hindley, in the same town ;

[1] By this charter Robert Banastre, the younger, confirmed the various grants of land made to Cockersand Abbey by tenants of his Barony of Makerfield. Thomas de Burnhull held Hindley of him in 1212. The land seems to have been six oxgangs, of which Roger, son of Gospatrick, held four oxgangs in 1212, Robert de Hindley, the grantor of Nos. 13 and 14, holding part of the four oxgangs of the said Roger (? his brother) before 1212, and Adam de Hindley (Nos. 7 to 10) holding the remaining two oxgangs in 1212 by ancient feoffment. (Testa. II., f. 829).

By the gift of Robert de Hindley, in the same town;
„ „ Roger de Winstanley, in the town of Winstanley;
„ „ Adam, son of William de Billinge, in the town of Billinge;
„ „ William, son of Simon de Billinge, in the same town;
„ „ Richard de Orrell, in the town of Orrell;
„ „ John de Orrell, in the same town;
„ „ Orm de Haydock, in the town of Ince;
„ „ Richard de Pierpont, in the same town;
„ „ Adam de Pemberton, in the town of Pemberton;
„ „ Richard, son of Warin, in the town of Abram;

Banastre, Roberto fratre ejus, Aluredo Clerico, Ricardo filio meo, Willelmo de Perpund, Hugone de Heidock, Thoma de Goldburne, Ricardo filio suo, Ricardo de Lee].[1]

Confirmation by Warine, son of Godfrey de Abram with the consent of his heir, to St. Mary of Cockersand and the Premonstratensian brethren there, of the gift which William, his nephew, made to them in Abram, to wit, in Ockelshaw; with common of pasture and easements; for the health of the soul of King Henry. Witnesses, Thurstan Banastre, Robert his brother, Alfred the clerk, Richard the grantor's son, William de Pierpont, Hugh de Haydock, Thomas de Golborne, Richard his son, and Richard de Lee. [S.D. 1190—1199.][2]

[1] This is an interesting charter confirming the previous grant of Ockelshaw to the Abbey. Warine, son of Godfrey, ancestor of the Adburghams of Adburgham, now Abram, may very possibly have been a Banastre. He appears to have received a grant of Abram from Henry II. (Testa. II f. 830), probably soon after 1167, when Robert Banastre and all his men were driven from Prestatyn by the Welsh. His nephew made the gift "for the health of the soul of King Henry II., of my own soul, and the soul of Warine Banastre." This Warine must have been a younger brother of Robert Banastre of Prestatyn, and was probably the grantor of No. 1, by which "Warine Banastre" gave one oxgang of his demesne in Abram to Cockersand Abbey. The date of the above charter, which can be established, precludes the possibility of the grantor of No. 1, or the Warine Banastre named in No. 3, then obviously dead, from being the Warine Banastre who had livery of the fee of Mackerfield shortly before Michaelmas, 1204 (Fine Roll, 6 John, m. 15). The first two witnesses to this confirmation are Thurstan Banastre, and Robert Banastre, his brother. These brothers can only be Robert Banastre, who was driven from Prestatyn in 1167, and had a grant of Walton-in-le Dale from Henry de Lacy, circa 1160, and Thurstan, father of Margaret, the wife of Richard, son of Roger of Woodplumpton, and of Matilda the wife of William de Hastings. Both brothers died before 1199. Thus before the accession of King John, we find Thurstan Banastre's two daughters engaged in litigation in the King's Court, respecting the division of their inheritance (Rotuli Curiæ Regis, vol. I., p. 359: and Curia Regis Roll, No. 11). The third witness, "Aluredus Clericus" was probably Adam de Wigan's predecessor in the vicarage of the church of Wigan (see Note p. 655). The fourth witness, Richard, son of Warine, son of Godfrey de Adburgham, succeeded his father before the date of the survey of 1212, but after Michaelmas, 1201, when Warine, son of Godfrey, paid one mark by the sheriff of Lancaster, that the said sheriff should not disturb him in the quiet possession of his estate (Pipe Roll, 3 John, m 20). The fifth witness, William de Pierpoint, was perhaps father of Richard de Pierpoint, who in 1212 held half a teamland in Ince in Makerfield, of Alfred de Ince (Testa II., f. 829). Hugh de Haydock, held Haydock in 1212, and Thomas de Golborne answered for his fee in Golborne to the second scutage of King John, in the year 1201 (Pipe Roll, 3 John, m 20). This charter therefore establishes the relationship between the heirs of Woodplumpton and Robert Banastre of Prestatyn and Makerfield. (cf. Ormerod's Parentalia). Richard de Abram had issue John, his son (No. 7), living in 1246 (Final Concords), from whom descended the Abrams of Abram.

MEMORANDUM quod Robertus, filius Adæ le Perpunt nobis quietam clamavit totam terram quam tenuit de nobis in Yns.

Be it remembered that Robert, son of Adam de Pierpont released [to the canons of Cockersand] all the land which he held of them in Ince.

[1] In 1212, Richard de Pierpont held half a teamland in Ince of Alfred de Ince, by ancient feoffment. (Testa. II., f. 829).

[2] Orm de Haydock rendered account of x. m. to the scutage to marry King Henry II.'s eldest daughter, at Michaelmas, 1169 (Pipe Roll, 15 Hen. II., Lanc. m. 2*d.*). Probably he was Seneschal of Makerfield. He was the father of Alfred de Ince, who in 1212 held three teamlands [in Ince and Haydock] in thanage, rendering 30s. yearly, and performing the service of finding two Doomsmen, or Judges, to the Court of Newton in Makerfield. Henry de Haydock and William de Haydock each held one teamland of the said Alfred in 1212, of ancient feoffment. (Testa. II., f. 829). Orm, father of the said Alfred, gave to the Hospital of Chester in frankalmoign a croft called Kaile. (Ibid).

4 ITEM Godeth, filia Roberti le Perpount nobis quietam clamavit totam terram quam habuit ex dono eorumdem Abbatis et Conventus.

Godith, daughter of Robert de Pierpont, released [to the canons of Cockersand] all the land which she had by the grant of the Abbot and Convent.

5 ITEM Robertus, filius Adæ de Cuntecliue nobis quietam clamavit totam [terram] quam habuit ex dono prædictæ Godithæ.

Robert, son of Adam de Cunliffe, released [to the canons of Cockersand] all the land which he had by the gift of the said Godith.

Herdbyri. Thurstanus Banastre. SCIANT, etc., quod ego Thurstanus Banastre dedi, etc. Deo, etc., duas Bouatas terræ in uillam de Herdbiri, scilicet, unam bouatam quam manu tenui, et quam Willelmus carpentarius alteram tenuit; in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, liberè, quietè, integrè et honorificè ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione, saluo forinceco, cum omnibus libertatibus et eisiamentis feodi mei prædictæ uillæ pertinentibus; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Thurstan Banastre [to the canons of Cockersand], of two oxgangs of land in the town of Arbury, to wit, one oxgang which be held in demesne, and the other which William the carpenter held; to hold free from all secular service except forinsec; with the liberties and easements of his fee in Arbury. [S.D. 1213—1219.]

[fol. 98.] Wigan. Thurstanus. UNIUERSIS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis præsens scriptum uisuris, etc., Thurstanus Banastre salutem. Nouerit uniuersitas uestra me diuinæ pietatis intuitu, et pro salute animæ meæ, etc., dedisse, concessisse, etc. Deo et Beatæ Mariæ, etc.,

ecclesiæ de Wygan totum jus patronatus quod in ea habui cum omnibus pertinenciis; in liberam, puram et perpetuam elemosinam, sicut aliqua elemosina liberius et melius potest dari ac teneri. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Thurstan Banastre [to St. Mary and the canons of Cockersand] of all his right in the advowson of the church of Wigan,[1] with the appurtenances. [S.D. 1213—1219].

MEMORANDUM quod Anno Regni Regis Henrici filii Regis Johannis Lᵒvjᵒ. In quindecim dies post Purificacionem Beatæ Mariæ, apud Lancastriam, portauimus Breve Domini Regis de Racionabilibus diuisis inter Halcton et Lostoc, Coram domino Waltero de Helyun, Petro de Cestria, Johanne de Hoketon, et sociis, et electa est assisa per assensum nostrum et Thomæ le Perpunt, Domini de Lostoc, apud Halcton post recessum Justiciariorum, quam ita conuenit inter partes quod quamcitius potuerint post recessum Justiciariorum de Lancastria accederent apud Halcton et starent iudicio xij. legalium electorum, in quibus se partes posuerunt et obligauerunt se per instrumenta et penam; Et quod ipsi xij. certas diuisas inter Lostoc et Halcton ducerent et facerent; Et quicquid quod fecerint de diuisis illis et ordinauerint, imperpetuum firmiter ab omnibus teneretur; Et summonita fuit patria Per Dominum Ranulphum De Daker tunc vicecomitem, et ballivos domini Regis ibi apud Halcton, scilicet, die sancti Augustini Anglorum episcopi; Et electi sunt isti duodecim per assensum parcium. [fol. 98ᵇ.] 1 [a.] Halcton. Assisa. Thomas le Perpunt.

Dominus Henricus de Lee,	Adam de Hocwic,
Dominus Adam de Holand,	Galfridus de Wrictinton,
Warinus de Waleton,	Ricardus de Moston,

[1] Whatever the value of this grant may have been at the time it was made, the canons of Cockersand never presented any clerk to the church of Wigan, nor do they ever appear to have set up any claim to do so, either against the heirs of Thurstan, or against the Crown, between whom the right of patronage was in dispute for a long period.

Henricus de Trafford, Gilbertus de Haydoc,
Rogerus de Penleburi, Henricus de Tildislee,
Willelmus de Worthinton, Ricardus de Urmistona.

Isti iurati dicunt quod Diuisæ inter Halcton et Lostoc sunt tales, scilicet, sicut Biscopislache descendit in Buckeschayebroc, et ascendendo per Buckessahebroc usque ad capud eius, et ab ipso capite sequendo le Moderlache inter terram Juncosam et mussam profundam usque ad carram de Windyatis, et sic sequendo ad huc prædictum Moderlache inter carram nemorosam et mussam profundam usque ad capud del Redshahe, et ab illo capite recta linea transmeando mussam usque in syketum inter Rumworthe et Suynul.

Diuisæ.

Be it remembered that at Lancaster, on the Quindene of the Purification of the B.V.M., 56 Henry III. [16th February, 1272], the canons of Cockersand brought a writ of the Lord the King touching the reasonable bounds between Westhoughton and Lostock, before Sir Walter de Helyun, Peter de Chester, John de Oketon, and their fellows, and an assize was chosen by the assent of the said canons and of Thomas de Pierpont, lord of Lostock, at Westhoughton, after the departure of the Justices, whereby it was arranged between them, that as soon as possible after the departure of the Justices from Lancaster they would proceed to Westhoughton, and stand by the judgment of twelve chosen liege men, in whose hands they placed themselves, and bound themselves by deed and penalty, that whatever the twelve should lead, make, and ordain as the certain bounds between Lostock and Westhoughton, should for ever be observed by all men. Whereupon the country was summoned to Westhoughton by Sir Ranulf de Dacre, then sheriff, and by the King's bailiffs, to wit, on the day of St. Augustine, bishop of the English [26th May, 1272], and these twelve were chosen by the consent of both parties.—Sir Henry de Lea, Sir Adam de Holland, Warine de Walton, Henry de Trafford, Roger de Pendlebury, William de Worthington, Adam de Howick, Geoffrey de Wrightington, Richard de Moston, Gilbert de Haydock, Henry de Tyldesley, and Richard de Urmston. These being sworn, say that the bounds between Westhoughton and Lostock, are these, to wit, where Bishop's-leach runs down to Buckshaw-brook, going up by Buckshaw-brook to its head, from the head thereof following the Mother-leach between the rushy ground and the deep moss to

Wind-yates carr, following still the Mother-leach between the wooded carr and the deep moss to the head of Redshaw, and from the head thereof in a straight line traversing the moss unto the syke between Rumworth and Swinhill.

[fol. 99] 1 Halcton. Rogerus.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Rogerus, filius Adæ de Penlebyri dedi, etc. Abbati et Canonicis de Cokersand totam terram meam de Westhalcton, cum omnibus pertinenciis suis sine aliquo retenemento, tam in dominicis quam in seruiciis, ut in homagiis, wardis, releuiis, et redditibus, et in omnibus aliis seruiciis et rebus quæ ad me uel ad hæredes meos quocumque casu uel racione decetero potuerunt pertinere; tenendam et habendam sibi et successoribus suis, liberè et quietè, ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione et demanda ad me uel ad hæredes meos pertinentibus, Cum omnibus libertatibus, et præcipuè speruariorum et mellis et omnibus aliis eisiamentis quæ sunt uel esse potuerunt infra uillam de Westhalcton uel extra; In bosco et plano et in omnibus aliis locis, sine aliquo retenemento, saluo forinseco seruicio, et salua mihi et hæredibus meis terra de Suinhul et communi pastura et pessona dictæ uillæ propriis porcis et aueriis duorum hominum qui de me tenent medietatem de Suinhul. Hanc autem terram cum bosco et omnibus aliis suis pertinenciis et libertatibus sicut prædictum est, ego Rogerus et hæredes mei prædictis Abbati, etc., contra omnes homines et feminas warantizabimus, defendemus et adquietabimus. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Roger, son of Adam de Pendlebury to the abbot and canons of Cockersand, of all his land of Westhoughton, with the appurtenances, as well in demesnes and services, as in homages, reliefs, wardships, and dues; to hold freely, quit of all secular services, with all liberties, particularly of sparrow-hawks and honey, and other easements within the town of Westhoughton, saving forinsec service, and saving to him and his heirs the land of Swinhill, and common of pasture, and mast-fall of the town for the pigs and cattle of two men holding the moiety of Swinhill. With warranty. [S.D. 1240—1268.]

2 Halcton. Hugo.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Hugo, filius Willelmi filii Nest dedi, etc. Abbati, etc., totam terciam partem uillæ de Westhalcton cum omnibus suis pertinenciis, sine aliquo retenemento, tam in dominicis quam in seruiciis, ut in homagiis, wardis, releuiis et redditibus, et in omnibus aliis seruiciis et rebus quæ ad me uel hæredes meos quocumque casu uel racione decetero potuerunt pertinere; solutam et liberam et quietam a me et hæredibus meis, sibi et successoribus eorum inperpetuum, cum omnibus libertatibus et præcipuè speruariorum et mellis, et omnibus aliis eisiamentis et libertatibus quæ sunt uel esse poterunt infra uillam de Halcton uel extra, videlicet, in bosco, in plano, et in omnibus aliis locis sine retenemento, saluo forinseco seruicio. Pro hac autem donacione et concessione dederunt mihi dicti Abbas et Conuentus xxxj. marcas argenti. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Hugh, son of William, son of Nest to the abbot [and canons of Cockersand], of the whole third part of the town of Westhoughton,[1] with the appurtenances, as well

[1] The township of Westhoughton was a member of the lordship of Barton (which was in turn a member of the Barony of Manchester), and was held by the service of the fortieth part of a knight's fee, and a yearly service of three-halfpence. In the time of Henry II. and Richard I., one-third of the town (A) was held by Robert de Pendlebury, who is incidentally mentioned in No. 3. His son and heir, Elias de Pendlebury was a benefactor to the abbey (No. 15), and at a later date, his great-grandson, Roger, granted the whole third part of the town, except Swinhill, to the abbey (No. 1). The abbey acquired another third part (B) from Hugh, son of William, son of Nest (No. 2), whose grandfather, calling himself Nest de Houghton (Halcton), was a benefactor to the abbey by the grant of land in Halliwell. It is probable therefore, that Nest was possessed of one-third part of this township, at least as early as the reign of Richard I. His son William, son of Nest, gave land here to Thomas, son of Elias de Pendlebury, which the said Thomas afterwards gave to the abbey (No. 3). The remaining third part (C), appears to have been in some way connected with the church of Winwick, as is seen by Robert, parson of Winwick, confirming an early grant of land here made by Augustine de Houghton to Cecily, wife of Thomas de Houghton, clerk, who together with his said wife was a large benefactor to the abbey (Nos. 4 to 8). The said Thomas' grants received the confirmation of the chief lords Gilbert de Notton, and his wife, the Lady Edith de Barton, by a charter, probably dating from the reign of King John (No. 14). Sir Gilbert de Barton, Knt., whose parents were respectively son and daughter of Gilbert de Notton, and Edith de Barton, afterwards granted the whole lordship of the town of Westhoughton to Henry de Sefton, clerk, who at the time of the enfeoffment held the last mentioned third part (C) in his own right, possibly by descent from Robert, clerk of Winwick, or from Thomas, son of Swain of Westhoughton, clerk.

in demesnes and services, as in homages, wardships, reliefs, and dues; to hold freely, quit of all secular service, with all liberties, especially of sparrow-hawks and honey, and all easements within the town of Westhoughton, saving forinsec service. For this grant the said abbot and convent gave him 31 marks of silver. [S.D. 1230 c—1250 c].

8 Halcton. Thomas.

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus, etc., Thomas filius Eliæ de Penlebyri salutem. Noueritis me dedisse, etc. Deo, etc., totam terram meam de Ballesleie cum omnibus suis pertinenciis sine retenemento, quam de ipsis tenui infra has diuisas, scilicet, prout via de Halcton se extendit uersus Aspul in Ridelegebroc, et per Ridelegebroc descendendo usque in Grenelache, et de Grenelache procedendo uersus occidentem usque Alrenesnapeheued inter me et Johannem filium Roberti filii Meurich, et ita procedendo per fossata quæ Robertus de Penlebyri quondam leuauit usque ad viam antedictam, et se extendentem usque in Ridelegebroc; tenendam et habendam, cum omni-

Accordingly, by charter No. 16, the said Henry grants to the abbey "dominium tocius villæ de Westhalcton," to be held of the chief lords by forinsec service, to wit, three-halfpence, this being the yearly service always rendered to the Barons of Manchester for this town (cf. Escaeta, 8 Rich. II., No. 69), and further he grants "totam terciam partem tocius prædictæ villæ de Halcton." Thus the abbey became lords of Westhoughton, first under Sir Gilbert de Barton, Knt., and later by his resignation of this and many other fees directly under the Barons of Manchester. A considerable estate, probably part of the Pendlebury third, was held by the family of "de Houghton" or Rylands. By No. 11, John, son of Robert de Rylands, grants to the abbey "all the land which I have in Ballislege, which Adam Dounebrid held of me"; and by No. 12, he gave all his share of the wastes of Westhoughton, which he had by the grant of Adam de Pendlebury, in exchange for 14 acres of land near the Wallbrook, and one acre under Warcock Hill. In confirmation of the supposition that John de Rylands held his estates under the Pendleburys, as instanced by the grant of a share of the wastes from Adam de Pendlebury, we find that at Lancaster Assizes in 1246, an assize came to make a recognition if Roger, son of Elias [de Westhoughton], and John, son of Robert [de Rylands], disseised Robert de Pendlebury of twelve acres of land in Haleghton. Verdict in favour of Roger and John. (Assize Roll, 404, m. 7). This also suggests the possibility of some relationship between John de Rylands and Roger de Westhoughton, who also released his right in the wastes of Westhoughton to the abbey by Nos. 19 and 20, receiving sixteen acres of land in Birchenley and Rylands in exchange.

The charters Nos. 1, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 17, 19, 20, and 21, appear to refer to that third part of Westhoughton which has been specified above by the letter (A). Nos. 2 and 3, to that specified by (B). Nos. 4 to 8, 14, 16 and 18, to that specified by (C).

bus libertatibus et eisiamentis uillæ de Halcton dictæ terræ pertinentibus; Ita quod nec ego, etc. Cum warantia. Pro hac autem concessione, etc., dederunt mihi dicti Canonici xiiij. marcas argenti. Et quia uolo quod hæc, etc. Hiis testibus.

Habemus etiam cartam Willelmi filii Nest dicto Thomæ factam de ista terra et per easdem diuisas.

Grant in frankalmoign from Thomas, son of Elias de Pendlebury to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of all his land of Ballesley, which he held of them within these bounds, to wit, as the road from Houghton extends towards Aspull unto Reedley-brook, going down by that brook unto Greenleach, from that leach proceeding westward unto Alrensnape-head, between his own [land] and land of John, son of Robert, son of Meurich, thence proceeding by the dyke which Robert de Pendlebury formerly raised, to the before-mentioned road, and so continuing into Reedley-brook; together with all the liberties and easements of the town of Houghton, belonging to that land. For this grant the said canons gave him 14 marks of silver. [S.D. 1218—1240].

They also have the charter of William, son of Nest, respecting this land, made to the said Thomas, and by the same bounds. [S.D. 1218—1240].

HÆC carta cirografata testatur quod cum Johannes, filius Roberti de Rilandis esset comporcionarius et particeps tocius uasti uillæ de Halcton, Idem Johannes concessit et præsentis scripti testimonio confirmauit, pro se et hæredibus suis Abbati et Conuentui de Cokersand et eorum successoribus inperpetuum, totum ius et clameum quod habuit uel habere potuit in toto uasto prædicto, saluis tamen dicto Johanni et hæredibus suis, et etiam hominibus terram suam in eadem uilla inhabitantibus, sufficienti pastura communa cum racionabili introitu et et exitu ad eandem, et cum husbote et haibote, et cum adquietancia pannagii in bosco de Halcton ad proprios porcos suos et hæredum suorum et eorum tenencium in eadem uilla; tenenda et habenda dictis Abbati et Conventui benè, pacificè, integrè, liberè et quietè ; Ita quod [fol. 100] liceat dictis Abbati et Conventui et eorum successoribus, dictum uastum circumcludere, fodere, arare, et assartare ubi et quando uoluerint, et omnia alia inde facere quæ voluerint et sibi uiderint melius expedire, absque omni inpedimento et contradictione dicti Johannis et hæredum suorum, siue etiam successorum quicumque fuerint. Pro hac autem concessione et confirmacione, dicti Abbas et Conuentus concesserunt et tradiderunt dicto Johanni et hæredibus suis totam terram contentam infra has diuisas, pro xiiij. acris, scilicet, Incipiendo in fossa in occidente juxta le Wallebroc, sequendo dictam fossam uersus orientem usque ad aliam fossam quæ se extendit uersus austrum, sequendo fossam illam usque in aliam fossam quæ se extendit ab oriente uersus occidentem, sequendo fossam illam usque in le Wallebroc, et sic ab occidentali capite illius fossæ in directo usque ad fossam primò nominatam, et unam acram subtus le Werkochul ; tenendas et habendas dicto Johanni et hæredibus suis benè, pacificè, integrè, liberè et quietè ; Ita quod liceat dicto Johanni et hæredibus suis de dicta terra facere et ordinare quicquid uoluerint et sibi melius uiderint expedire, absque omni inpedimento et contradictione dictorum Abbatis et Conventus et eorum successorum. In quorum omnium testimonium et euidenciam, et ut perpetuam habeant firmitatem, utraque pars huic cartæ cirographatæ sigillum suum apposuit alternatim. Hiis testibus.

Habemus cartam Adæ de Penlebyri dicto Johanni factam de dicto vasto.

Composition made between John, son of Robert de Rylands, participator and sharer of the whole waste of the town of Houghton, and the Abbot and Convent of Cockersand, whereby the said John released his right in the said waste to the A. and C., and their successors, saving to himself and his heirs, and to the men dwelling upon his land there, sufficient common of pasture, with reasonable entry and egress to the same, and housebote and haybote, and acquittance of pannage in Houghton-wood for his own and his heirs' swine, and the swine of his tenants in that town ; so that the said A. and C., and their successors should have liberty to enclose, ditch, plough and assart the said waste, where and when they would, and to do therein as might seem best to them, without hindrance or gainsay of the said John or his heirs or successors, whoever they might be. For which concession they granted to the said John and his heirs the land contained within these bounds, for fourteen acres, to wit, beginning at the ditch on the west by the Wall-brook, following the same westward to another ditch running southward, following that ditch to another running from east to west, following that ditch unto the Wall-brook, and so from the western head of that ditch in a straight line to the ditch first-named; together with an acre of land below the Warcock-hill; so that the said John and his heirs should have liberty to deal with the said land as they would, without let or gainsay of the A. and C., or their successors. [S.D. 1235 c—1260].

[The canons] have the charter of Adam de Pendlebury made to the said John [de Rylands] touching the said waste. [S.D. 1235 c—1250].

Grant in frankalmoign from William de Notton [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Aspull,[1] within these bounds, from the Roskit-ford going down by Roskit to the leach, ascending the said leach eastward to the oak tree marked with the cross, and so to another oak tree marked in like manner, thence to the ancient fence, following the same southward to the

[1] Aspull was a member of the lordship of Barton, to which it was probably attached in consequence of the mesne tenancy having been vested at an early date in the lords of Barton. In 1212, one carucate of land in Aspull with 5½ carucates in Childwall, Harwood, Turton, and Brockholes, was held for a knight's fee by Richard, son of Robert de Lathom, as of the Barony of Manchester. Soon after that date the fee was broken up, Childwall, Aspull, Harwood, and Brockholes being resigned by Lathom, and henceforward held as to Childwall as a demesne fee, and as to Aspull, Harwood, and Brockholes, directly of the Barony of Manchester. The Lathoms continued to hold half a fee only, composed of the vill of Childwall, Allerton, and Dalton. During the first half of the 13th century, the Nottons and Bartons held Aspull either wholly or partially in demesne, but before 1302, Richard de Ince and Adam de Hindley had been enfeoffed of the township. In that year they contributed 5s. to the Aid to marry King Edward I.'s eldest daughter, for the eighth part of a knight's fee in Aspull, held of Thomas Grelley. (Lanc. Lay Subsidy Roll, $\frac{19}{8}$). The following series of charters contain information respecting the families of Notton and Barton, which fully confirms the corrected account of these families contained in the Note to No. 93, Lancashire Final Concords, Record Soc., vol. xxxix, p. 88.

2. Aspul. Gilbertus.

NOUERINT præsentes et futuri quod ego Gilbertus de Barton miles, dedi, etc. Deo, etc., in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, quandam partem terræ meæ in Aspul quæ uocatur le Mulnewardiscroft infra has diuisas: Incipiente ad uadum de Muclnebroc et sic ascendendo le Muclebroc usque ad diuisam Ricardi de Hindele ad sicum, et sic a sico illo usque ad foueam, et a fouea in foueam usque ad diuisam inter Siuerhul et prædictum Mulnewardiscroft, et a diuisa illa per loca fossata usque ad lacum de Siuerhul, et sic sequendo lacum illum usque ad prædictam le Muclebroc; et tres acras de uasto ubi via inferior ducit ad Brunsop ex orientali parte; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè et hæreditariè, cum communi pastura et omnibus aliis eisiamentis communibus prædictæ uillæ pertinentibus, et cum adquietancia pannagii porcorum suorum et hominum qui in prædicta terra habitant. Ita liberè quod nec ego nec hæredes mei aliquid, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Sir Gilbert de Barton, knight, [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Aspull, which is called the Milnward's-croft, lying within these bounds, beginning at Mickle-brook ford, going up Mickle-brook to the bounds of Richard de Hindley's land at the syke, from that syke to the dyke, and so from dyke to dyke unto the boundary between Siuerhill and the said Milnward's croft, thence from that boundary by the ditched ground to Siuerhill-leach, and so following that leach back to the before-mentioned Mickle-brook; together with three acres of waste lying where the lower road leads from the eastern side to Brinshope; with common of pasture and all other common easements of the town, and acquittance of pannage of their own pigs, and the pigs of the men dwelling on that land. [S.D. 1245—1268].

ISTAM uerò terram in istis duabus cartis contentam nobis quietam clamavit Hugo filius Augustini de Aspul, per easdem diuisas, cum homagio et seruicio Magistri Ricardi de Marthlan et hæredum suorum pro tribus acris vasti reddentis ad festum Sancti Egidii j. denarium. 8. Hugo. Quieta clamantia.

Release by Hugh, son of Augustine de Aspull [to the canons of Cockersand], of the land described in the two previous charters, by the same bounds, with the homage and service of Master Richard de Marthlan and his heirs for three acres of waste, rendering 1d. at the feast of St. Giles. [S.D. 1245—1268].

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Willelmus de Notton dedi, etc., quandam porcionem terræ meæ in Aspul, scilicet medietatem de Hulegreue per easdem diuisas, per quas Utredus eam tenuit, assensu et consensu Ceciliæ sponsæ meæ, de cujus maritagio hæc est, cum communione eiusden uillæ, et cum omnibus libertatibus et eisiamentis et liberis consuetudinibus eidem uillæ pertinentibus; pro salute animæ, etc.; in liberam, puram, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione. Et sciendum est quod homo qui terram illam tenebit, quietus erit de pannagio porcorum suorum in bosco de Aspul. Hiis testibus. 4. Aspul. Willelmus.

Grant in frankalmoign from William de Notton with the consent of his wife Cecily, of whose dower it was, [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of land in Aspull, to wit, the moiety of Hulgreave by the same bounds by which Ughtred held it; together with the liberties, easements and free customs of the town, and acquittance of pannage in Aspull wood for the swine of the tenant who should hold that land. [S.D. 1199—1222].

NOUERINT præsentes et futuri quod ego Gilbertus de Barton miles, concessi et confirmaui Deo, etc., donum Willelmi patris mei et Ceciliæ matris meæ in Aspul, scilicet, de terra quam Augustinus de Aspul tenet de prædicta domo; 5. Aspul. Gilbertus. Confirmacio.

6. Aspul. Edit. Scraplegh.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Ego (sic) Edit et hæres meus dedimus, etc., unam porcionem terræ in Aspul; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni exactione seculari et seruicio, cum communione et eisiamentis prædictæ uillæ, sicuti diuisæ et signa eorum demonstrant, scilicet, a laca quæ descendit in Lonintonebroc, sequendo ita eundem broc usque in Holeleche, et iterum sequendo eundem leghe usque in Scampleghe, et sequendo Scrapleghe usque in profundam lacam in margine nemoris iuxta Croneberilee, usque prædictam lacam quæ descendit in Lonintonebroc sursum quam edificauit Ricardus Sharpanel; pro salute animæ domini mei, etc. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Edith [de Barton] and her heir, for the soul of her husband [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of land in Aspull, defined by bounds and metes, to wit, from the leach which runs down into Lonington-brook, following that brook unto Holeleach, following the same leach unto Scrapleach, following Scrapleach to the deep leach on the border of the wood by Cranberry-lee, and so back to the aforesaid leach, which runs down into Lonington-brook, above which Richard Sharpanel has built [his house]. [S.D. 1218—1222].

[fol. 101b.] 1. Haliwalle. Nest.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Nest de Halcton dedi, etc., unam partem terræ meæ in Haliwalle, cum communione et omnibus eisiamentis et libertatibus feodi mei prædictæ uillæ; in puram et perpetuam, etc., scilicet, terciam partem crofti quod est iuxta assartum hospitalis sancti Johannis quod Rogerus tenuit, per has diuisas, a le Broc usque ad sepem de Croscliues-ende, et a Haliwellebroc usque ad prædictum assartum, liberè et quietè ab omni exactione seculari et seruicio; pro salute animæ, etc. Hiis testibus. Rogerus filius Roberti tenet istam terram hæreditariè, reddendo per annum vj.d. In decessu dimidiam Marcam.

Grant in frankalmoign from Nest de [West] Houghton [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Halliwell,[1] to wit, the third part of the croft which is by the ridding of the Hospital of St. John [of Jerusalem], which Roger held, by these bounds, from the brook to the hedge of Crosscliff's end, and from Halliwell brook to the said ridding; with common right and all the easements and liberties of his fee in that town. [S.D. 1190—1220 c].

[In the margin]—Roger, son of Robert, holds that land by inheritance [in 1268], rendering yearly 6d. At his decease, half a mark.

2. Haliwalle. Thomas.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Thomas Clericus de Eccles dedi, etc., unam porcionem terræ meæ in Haliwalle, cum communione et eisiamentis et omnibus libertatibus prædictæ uillæ pertinentibus; in puram et perpetuam, etc., scilicet, totam terciam partem crofti quod est iuxta assartum hospitalis sancti Johannis, etc., sicut in priori carta, per easdem diuisas, de uerbo ad uerbum usque ad finem.

3. Margeria.

Habemus cartam Margeriæ de Penlebyri de tercia parte eiusdem crofti nobis factam, per easdem diuisas, cum omnibus eisdem libertatibus omnibus in priori carta contentis de uerbo ad uerbum usque ad finem.

[1] In the first half of the 13th century, the Pendlebury and Westhoughton families held land here under the lords of Barton-upon-Irwell, who held the township as of the Barony of Manchester by the service of the tenth part of a knight's fee. Sir Gilbert de Barton, Knt., afterwards resigned this fee with many others to his chief lord Robert Grelley (Dodsworth's MS., cxlix, f. 151). About the end of the century this fee came into the possession of Richard de Hulton, of Hulton, who accordingly rendered 4s. to the Aid levied in 1302 to marry the King's eldest daughter, for the tenth part of a knight's fee which he held in Halliwell. (Lanc. Lay Subsidy Roll, B'dle 130, No. 3).

"Richard Hylton holds certain lands in Halliwell freely for ij. s." (Cockersand Abbey Rental, A.D. 1461).

Grant in frankalmoign from Thomas, the clerk of Eccles [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Halliwell, to wit, the third part of the croft, which is by the ridding of the Hospital of St. John [of Jerusalem], by the same bounds as are contained in the previous charter, with common right and easements. [S.D. 1200—1230 c].

The canons also have the charter of Margery de Pendlebury made to them, touching that third part, word for word as in the first charter.

4 Haliwalle. Nest.

Rogerus filius Willelmi tenet istam terram hæreditariè reddit per annum viij. denarios, et Indecessu dimidiam Marcam.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Nest de Halcton dedi, etc., unam porcionem terræ in Haliwalle, per has diuisas, scilicet, Tahaureise usque Suinnebodeslege, et ita sequendo eundem leghe usque in Haliwallebroc, et ita ascendendo Haliwallebroc usque in sepem Rogeri hospitalis, et sic ab eadem sepe usque ad Londessides, et ita sequendo Longelond ad assartum Margeriæ, et ita per capud eiusdem assarti usque ad ortum Roberti; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione, cum communione et eisiamentis feodi mei prædictæ uillæ, in bosco et plano; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Nest de [West] Houghton [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Halliwell, by these bounds, to wit, from Tahaureise to Swinbodes-leach, following the said leach unto Halliwell-brook, going up that brook to the hedge of Roger of the Hospital [land], from thence to Lands-sides, following Longland to Margery's ridding, and so by the head of that ridding unto Robert's orchard; with common right and easements. [S.D. 1190—1220 c].

[In the margin]—Roger, son of William, holds this land by inheritance [in 1268], rendering yearly 8d. At his decease, half a mark.

5. Haliwalle. Helias.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Helias de Penlebyri dedi, etc., quandam porcionem terræ in Haliwalle, scilicet, per terram Willelmi Moscrop descendendo usque ad Bentspert, et de Bentspert usque ad Lanulache, et de Lanulache usque ad Longelongeshend et de Longelongeshend usque ad terram Willelmi

Moscrop; in liberam, puram, etc., cum communione et eisiamentis feodi mei prædictæ uillæ, liberè, quietè, integrè et honorificè, ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Elias de Pendlebury [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in Halliwell [by these bounds, to wit], by land of William Moscrop, going down to Brentspert, and from Brentspert to Lanu-leach, and from thence to Longland's-end, and from thence to the land of William Moscrop; with common right and easements. [S.D. 1199—1218].

6. Haliwalle. Willelmus. Confirmatio Roberti filii eius.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Willelmus Moscrop dedi, etc., totam medietatem terræ meæ in Haliwall quam Hugo de Winequike tenet de Kokersand, de quo ego teneo, cum omnibus pertinenciis et libertatibus et eisiamentis eidem terræ pertinentibus, sicut carta donatoris testatur; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè et honorificè, ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione; pro salute animæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from William Moscrop [to the canons of Cockersand], of the moiety of his land in Halliwell, which Hugh de Winwick holds of Cockersand, of whom the grantor held, with all the liberties and easements appertaining to the same, as the charter of the original grantor bears witness. [S.D. 1200—1220*c*].

[In the margin]—The confirmation of Robert, his son [which follows].

7. Robertus. Quieta clamantia.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Robertus, filius Willelmi Moscrop de Haliwalle dedi, etc., et quietam clamavi Deo, etc., totam terram quam habui in Haliwalle et de eisdem canonicis tenui, cum omnibus pertinenciis suis et libertatibus eidem terræ spectantibus sicut ipsam liberius tenui; in puram et perpetuam, etc.; pro salute, etc.; ita quod nec ego, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Release by Robert, son of William Moscrop, of Halliwell, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of all his land in Halliwell, which he had of them, with the appurtenances. [S.D. 1220 c—1250 c].

8. Robertus. SCIANT, etc., quod ego Robertus de Scharplis Quietum clamaui Deo, etc., totum ius et clameum quod habui uel habere potui in terra de Haliwalle quam tenui de eisdem. Ita quod nec ego, etc. Cum testibus.

Release by Robert de Sharples to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of his right in land in Halliwell, which he held of them. [S.D. 1240—1268].

[fol. 102.] Mawinton. Hugo. SCIANT, etc., quod ego Hugo de Eccles, Clericus, dedi, etc., sex acras terræ meæ in Mawinton, scilicet, tres acras terræ in ueteri Mawinton sub urlo nemoris ubi edificia prædicti Hugonis sita fuerunt, et tres acras terræ In crofto quod iacet sextæ parti bouatæ prædicti Hugonis; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè, quietè, integrè et plenariè, ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione, cum communione et eisiamentis et omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus, tam in glandibus quam in ceteris rebus, prædictæ uillæ pertinentibus; pro salute animæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Hugh de Eccles, clerk [to the canons of Cockersand], of six acres of his land in Monton,[1] to wit, three acres of land in old Monton, under the edge of the wood where the said Hugh's buildings were set, and three acres of land in the croft which lies into the sixth part of Hugh's oxgang; with common right, easements, liberties, and free customs, as well in oakmast as in other commodities belonging to that town. [S.D. 1190—1218].

[1] Monton is a hamlet of Barton-upon-Irwell. In the reign of King John it was given by Robert Grelley to Robert de Byron, senior. Early in the reign of Edward I., Geoffrey de Byron III. gave it to the Abbey of Stanlaw. The assessment area was three oxgangs, therefore Hugh, son of Elias, the grantor of the above charter held one-third of the town. It was a member of the lordship of Barton, as appears by the Survey of 1320. The abbot of Whalley is returned in the Survey of 1346 as holding this hamlet by the yearly service of 6s. for sake fee. (M.S. penes auct.).

NOUERINT [tam] præsentes [quam] futuri quod ego Hugo filius Eliæ dedi [et concessi, et hac præsenti Carta mea confirmavi Deo et beatæ Mariæ et domui De Kokersand] quatuor acras terræ In Mawinton, [scilicet] unam super ripam de Kaldebroc et tres in crofto quod pertinet ad bouatam meam in eadem uilla ; [Tenendas], In liberam, puram [et perpetuam elemosinam], quietas et solutas ab omni seculari exactione et seruicio, cum omnibus pertinenciis et eisiamentis eidem terræ pertinentibus, in bosco, in plano, in pastura, et in omnibus locis. Et ut hæc mea concessio [rata et inconcussa permaneat eam p'nitub (sic) scripti et sigilli mei apposicione corroboravi.] Hiis testibus [Johanne de Barton, Elia de Penulberi, Ricardo fratre meo, Thoma de Prestwic, Galfrido de Burun, Thoma parsona de Crosbygerard].[1] Mawinton. Idem.

Istam autem terram nobis confirmauit per cartam suam Ricardus frater eius, et per easdem diuisas et easdem libertates sicut continetur in carta fratris sui.

Grant in frankalmoign from Hugh, son of Elias, to God and St. Mary, and the house of Cockersand, of four acres of land in Monton, to wit, one upon the bank of Keldbrook, and three acres in the croft, which belonged to his oxgang of land in that town. Witnesses, John de Barton, Elias de Pendlebury, Richard his brother, Thomas de Prestwich, Geoffrey de Byron, and Thomas, parson of Crosby Garrett. [S.D. 1190—1218.]

Richard, brother of the said Hugh, confirmed this land by his charter, and by the same bounds, with the same liberties as are contained in the above charter of his brother.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Willelmus, filius Adæ de Bothelton dedi, etc., unam porcionem terræ in Bothelton, scilicet, assartam tannatoris et omnem terram infra has diuisas, sequendo Bindeleghe sike usque in carram, et in latere illius carræ usque ad Crochac ak, et sequendo Brand del cloch in Brend ak cloch, et de Brend ak cloch usque in Russilak, et de Russilak usque 1. Prædictus donator habebit exitum per mediam terram istam. Hiis testibus, etc.

Grant in frankalmoign from William, son of Adam de Bolton [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of his land in [Little] Bolton,[1] to wit, the Tanner's ridding, and the land within these bounds, following Brandley-syke unto the carr, and along the side of that carr to the Crowshaw oak, following Brandley-clough unto Brendoak-clough, from thence unto Rushy-leach, and from Rushy-leach to the ditch, and so following that ditch unto Brandley-syke; with common right and easements, acquittance of pannage for sixty pigs, and pasturage for the cattle of the tenant who should hold that land; saving to the grantor a right of way through the midst of that land. [S.D. 1201—1212].

[fol. 102b.] 1. Langeworthe. Mathæus.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Mathæus, filius Siwardi de Langew[o]rthe dedi, etc. Deo, etc., Euerdhulruding infra has diuisas, a superiori quercu iuxta stratam in Rakes descendendo recta linea usque in magnam aquam, et ita ascendendo eandem aquam usque in profundum de Euerdhilcloch, et ita ascendendo eundem cloch usque ad Euerdhul, et ita in transuersum usque ad prædictam quercum cruce signatam, cum communione et omnibus eisiamentis prædictæ uillæ communibus; in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, et hoc de dominico meo, liberè et

[1] Little Bolton is a hamlet in the township of Pendleton. For several centuries it continued in the possession of a family who took their name from the place. During the period that John, Count of Mortain, held the Honour of Lancaster (1189—1194), he gave six oxgangs of land in Bolton to William, son of Elias, to hold in free thanage by the yearly service of 18s. After succeeding to the crown, the king confirmed his previous grant at Geddington, on the 14th March, 1201. (Charter Roll, 2 John, m. 7). William de Bolton died before 1212, in which year his son was in ward to the king (Testa de Nevill).

Habemus etiam quietam clamanciam Ricardi filii Rogeri de Orsdeshahe Willelmo de Esworde factam, de prædicta terra per easdem diuisas, saluo seruicio de Cokersand cum omnibus libertatibus suis. 2.

Et habemus quieta clamantia Willelmi filii Adæ de Esworde nobis factam pro se et hæredibus suis, de dicta terra cum pertinentiis suis. Pro hac autem quieta clamantia dedimus sibi duas marcas argenti. 3. Willelmus. Quieta clamantia.

Grant in frankalmoign from Matthew, son of Siward de Longworth, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of Awardhill-ridding, within these bounds, from the upper oak tree by the high road in the Rakes, going down in a straight line to the great water, going up that stream unto the bottom of Awardhill-clough, thence going up the said clough unto Awardhill, and so across unto the before-mentioned oak tree marked with the cross; with common right and easements of Longworth.[1] [s.d. 1190—1220 c].

Richard, son of Roger de Ordsall, released this land by the said bounds to William de Ashworth, with all liberties, saving the service due to the abbey of Cockersand.

William, son of Adam de Ashworth, quit-claimed [to the canons of Cockersand], the said land with the appurtenances, for which release they gave him two marks of silver.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Mathæus, filius Siwardi, etc., dedi, etc., unam acram terræ in Langeworthe, quam Galfridus de Mamecestre tenuit de me, cum mesuagio et communi pastura et omnibus eisiamentis prædictæ uillæ pertinentibus, ad xl. 4. Langeworthe. Mathæus.

[1] Longworth is a township in the parish of Bolton-le-Moors. For several centuries it was possessed by the family of Longworth, of whom Matthew, son of Siward, the grantor of Nos. 1 and 4, was probably the first member of whom any mention exists. Roger, son of Ughtred, if not Matthew's successor, was probably of the same family, as the estate of which he was enfeoffed by Abbot Hereward, in No. 5, was in the possession of a Thomas de Longworth in 1461 and 1501 respectively. (Cockersand Rentals). In 1608, Christopher Longworth died seised of the greater part of this township, which he held of Rowland Moseley, Esq., as of his manor of Withington, by knight's service and 9½d. rent. (Lanc. Inquisitions, Record Soc., vol. III., p. 116).

1. Chorlton. Gospatricius.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Gospatricius de Chorlton dedi, etc. Deo et Beatæ Mariæ, etc., quandam porcionem terræ meæ de dominico meo in Chorlton, scilicet, Bexwic; in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, liberam et quietam ab omni exactione seculari et seruicio, Cum communione et eisiamentis fe[o]di mei prædictæ uillæ; pro salute animæ meæ, etc. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Gospatrick de Chorlton to God and St. Mary [of Cockersand], of a portion of his demesne land in Chorlton,[2] to wit, in Beswick, with common right and easements. [S.D. 1200—1223].

[1] "Thomas Longworth holds certain lands freely in Longworth, rendering xij d." (Cockersand Abbey Rental, A.D. 1461).

[2] "John Trafford, Esq., holds freely in Chorlton, Bexwyke and Wytyngton, rendering iiij s." (Cockersand Abbey Rental, A.D. 1461).

Gospatrick de Chorlton in 1212 held two teamlands in Chorlton-upon-Medlock in thanage by the yearly service of 20s. (Testa II., f. 827). Between 1180 and 1200, he had a dispute with William, son of Wulfric de Withington, ancestor of the Hathersage family, which it was decided to settle by wager of battle. Gospatrick arranged with his brother Adam to fight for him in consideration of the gift of two oxgangs of land in Chorlton, which he duly received and held in 1212. Gospatrick lost the wager, and with it the four oxgangs of land which had been the subject of the dispute. In 1212, William de Withington's son, Matthew de Hathersage, held these four oxgangs, which he (lege his father), had deraigned by Wager of Battle (Ibid). There is a strangely incorrect rendering of this passage from the Testa de Nevill, in Harland's Mamecestre, p. 81.

[fol. 108.] 1. Failesworthe. Robertus.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Robertus de Burum dedi, etc. Deo, etc., laplace de meo Herdewico[1] super Mosbroc, quæ est inter duos Clohos qui descendunt in Mosbroc ex una parte occidentali, ex altera parte orientali, et communem pasturam quantum pertinet ad illam terram ; pro anima mea et Ceciliæ uxoris meæ, etc. ; in puram et perpetuam elemosinam ab omni seculari seruicio quietam, de me et hæredibus meis tenendam. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Robert de Byron, for the health of his soul, and the soul of Cecily his wife, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of the place of his cattle-stead upon Mossbrook in Failsworth,[2] which is between the two cloughs which run down into Mossbrook on the eastern and western sides respectively, with common of pasture as much as belongs to that land. [s.d. 1190—1212].

2. Failesworthe. Cecilia.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Cecilia uxor Roberti de Burum dedi, etc., quandam porcionem terræ in Failesworthe, scilicet, totam terram del Cloch quæ uenit de Mosden, inter assartum Radulphi et terram prædictam usque ad aliam Cloch in oriente usque ad bouatas uillæ; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione, cum communione et eisiamentis feodi mei dictæ uillæ, et maximè propriis porcis illorum hominum quietis de pannagio qui habitant in prædictam terram ; pro salute animæ meæ et sponsi, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Cecily, wife of Robert de Byron [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of ground in Fails-

[1] "La place de meo Herdwico," a curious rendering into Latin from a description of the property received orally from Robert de Byron in Norman French. "Herdwic" cannot be anything else than the A.S. Heord, a flock or herd, and wic, a station or dwelling. The name was probably in common use in the 12th century to describe a cattle-shed put up for the use of cattle sent to pasture on the wastes at some distance from the village homesteads. It still survives in "Herdwick," the name of a breed of sheep peculiar to the lake mountains of Cumberland and Westmorland.

[2] In 1212, Failsworth was held by Gilbert de Notton, lord of Barton, of Adam de Prestwich, in thanage tenure, by the yearly service of 4s. (Testa II., f. 826). Robert de Byron of Clayton held his land here under the said Gilbert.

worth, to wit, all the land from the clough which runs down from Mossdean, between Ralph's ridding, and the said land unto another clough on the east, as far as the oxgangs of the town (i.e. the town fields); with common right and easements, especially acquittance of pannage of the pigs of those men who dwell upon that land. [S.D. 1190—1212].

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Robertus de Burum concessi et confirmaui Deo, etc., terram illam de Failesworthe quam pater meus Robertus et mater mea Cecilia prædictis fratribus in elemosinam dederunt, cum eisdem diuisis et eisdem libertatibus quæ continentur in carta prædictorum donatorum; in puram et perpetuam, etc., liberam et quietam ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione. Cum warantia et testibus. 8. Failesworthe. Robertus.

Confirmation by Robert de Byron [the younger], to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of the land in Failsworth,[1] which his father Robert and mother Cecily gave to the said brethren in frankalmoign, with the same bounds and liberties which are contained in their charters. [S.D. 1190—1212].

SCIANT, etc., quod ego domina Edit de Barton, assensu et consensu domini mei Gilberti de Notton, dedi, etc. Deo, etc., quandam porcionem terræ meæ infra diuisam de Ferneworthe, scilicet, totum Kersleie, cum omnibus pertinenciis suis infra has diuisas, sicut profundum lac exit de Urwil, ascendendo uersus Stokebruge, et ita sequendo illud lac descendendo uersus Flethithaleth usque in prædictum Urwil; in liberam, puram, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione, cum omnibus libertatibus et eisiamentis quæ infra has diuisas et eius pertinenciis sunt uel fieri potuerunt, sicut aliqua elemosina liberius et quiecius, etc.; pro salute animæ Johannis filii mei, etc. Cum warantia et testibus. 1. Ferneworthe. Edit.

Ista carta duplicatur.

[1] "Nicholas Byron, Esq., holds ffaylesworde, rendering yearly xijd." (Cockersand Abbey Rental, A.D. 1461).

Grant in frankalmoign from Lady Edith de Barton for the health of the soul of her son John, and with the consent of her husband Gilbert de Notton, to God [and the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of her land in Farnworth,[1] to wit, the whole of Kersley, within these bounds, where the deep leach issues forth of Irwell, going up the same towards Stockbridge, following that leach and going down towards Flethithaleth unto Irwell aforesaid; with liberties and easements existing and prospective. [S.D. 1190-1222].

This charter is in duplicate.

LEECHE.

[fol. 108ᵇ]. 1. Estelege. Hugo.

OMNIBUS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ [filiis tam præsentibus quam futuris] Hugo de Tildesleia salutem. [2] The ancient parish of Leigh, containing the townships of Westleigh and Eastleigh (now Astley), Pennington, Bedford, Atherton, Tyldesley and Shakerley, appears to have been formerly known as Leeche, or Lecht, pronounced with a strong guttural. Of the seven townships in this district, the names of four terminate in leigh or ley.

Hugh, son of Henry de Tyldesley held Tyldesley (1 car.) in 1212, by ancient feoffment, of the barony of Warrington, by the service of the tenth part of a knight's fee; and Astley (1 car.) of the lordship of Widnes by the same service. (Testa II., ff. 810, 819). Henry de Tyldesley, probably son of Hugh, held these fees in 1242 (Ibid. f 785). Another Henry occurs in 20 and 29 Edward I. (Final Concords, Lanc. Record Soc., vol. xxxix., pp. 172, 197.) Hugh de Tyldesley, son of the last named also occurs in fines of 20 and 29 Edward I. (Ibid.). He held Astley in 2 Edward III. (Escaeta, 2 Edward III., No. 61).

communione et omnibus eisiamentis feodi mei dictæ uillæ, et propriis porcis hominis illius qui dictam terram de prædictis fratribus tenuerit quietis de pannagio; pro salute, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Hugh de Tyldesley [to the canons of Cockersand] of eleven acres of his land in Astley,[1] to wit, two acres less one rood, on the western side of Limepit, within ditches, and nine acres and one rood upon Brunacres, and half an acre of meadow within ditches; with common right and easements, and acquittance of pannage of the pigs belonging to the tenant of that land. [S.D. 1190—1221].

8. Estelege. Idem.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Hugo, etc., dedi, etc., quandam partem terræ meæ in Astelege, scilicet, incipiendo ad aquam quæ uocatur le Fleet, sequendo riuulum uersus aquilonem usque ad superiorem partem de Limput hurst sicuti cruces signant quæ ibidem factæ sunt, et sic sequendo le Bruneheuese uersus austrum per cruces ibidem factas, usque in prædictam aquam quæ uocatur le Fleet, excepta terra Albini et Brademedwe et Struyndes, et medietate assartorum quæ sunt inter curuam quercum et le Fleet; in liberam, puram, etc., liberè et quietè, plenè et pacificè, et adquietanciam pannagii in bosco de Asteleghe hominibus in prædicta terra manentibus; pro salute animæ, etc.; ita quod nec ego, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

4. Emma.

Istam uerò terram Emma filia Ormi de Astelege nobis in uiduitate sua dedit et confirmauit, per easdem diuisas per cartam suam de uerbo ad uerbum usque ad finem.

Grant in frankalmoign from Hugh de Tildesley [to the canons of Cockersand] of a portion of his land in Astley, beginning at the water which is called the Fleet, following the brook southward to the upper part of Limepit hurst, as defined by the cro ses which have been set there, thence following the Brun-eaves southward by the crosses put there, unto the aforesaid water

1. Pininton. Margeria.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Margeria de Pininton dedi, etc., quandam partem terræ in Pininton infra has diuisas, de Hal-mülnefort ascendendo usque ad uiam quæ uenit de Benefor, et sequendo uiam illam uersus ecclesiam usque ad quendam fossatum locum, et sic de fossa illa descendendo per fossam usque Goldelache, et descendendo per Goldelache usque ad aquam, et descendendo per aquam illam usque ad prædictum locum de Aldemulnefor; in liberam, puram, etc., liberè et quietè ab omni seculari seruicio et exactione, Cum communione et eisiamentis et omnibus libertatibus dictæ uillæ pertinentibus, sicut aliqua elemosina liberius, etc. Omnes quæ manentes uel tenentes prædictam terram erunt in pannagio quieti; pro salute animæ, etc. Cum warantia et testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Margery de Pennington[1] [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of her land in Pennington, within these bounds, from Oldmiln-ford going up to the road which comes from Bedford, following that road towards the church to a certain ditched place, from that ditch going down by the ditch to Goldleach, going down by Goldleach to the water, thence following the water down to the aforesaid place at Oldmiln-ford; with common right and easements, and acquittance of pannage for the tenants dwelling on that land. [S.D. 1220 c—1246].

[1] Margery de Pennington, being possessed of Pennington in her own right, married Hugh de Radcliffe, lord of Hartshead, co. York. They had issue two sons, Richard and William. The latter, in the year 1246, received from his elder brother certain estates in Hartshead as his portion of patrimony. Richard was probably the father of Adam de Pennington, who in 1299 settled estates in Pennington upon his two sons, Adam and Richard (Final Concords, Lanc., Record Soc., vol. xxxix, pp. 149, 186). The manor of Pennington was held as of the barony of Warrington by knight's service.

2. Pininton. Ricardus.

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Ricardus de Pininton dedi, etc., pro salute animæ meæ, etc., unam partem terræ iuxta ecclesiam de Westeleghe, infra has diuisas, de cimiterio descendendo iuxta latus crofti ecclesiæ usque Gildalache, et descendendo per Gildalache usque albam spinam, et de alba spina recta linea extenta usque uiam quæ uenit de Bedeford uersus ecclesiam, et sequendo uiam illam usque cimiterium, et sequendo fossam cimiterii usque prædictam diuisam ; in puram et perpetuam, etc., cum communi pastura et eisiamentis uillæ de Pininton, liberam et quietam ab omni exactione seculari et seruicio. Hiis testibus.

Grant in frankalmoign from Richard de Pennington [to the canons of Cockersand], of a portion of ground by Westleigh church, within these bounds, from the church-yard going down by the side of church-croft unto Gilda-leach, thence by that leach down to the white thorn, from the white thorn in a straight line unto the road which leads from Bedford towards the church, following that road to the church-yard, and so following the church-yard ditch to the first-named boundary; with common of pasture and easements of the town of Pennington. [S.D. 1246—1268].

[fol. 104.] 1. Tildeslege. Hugo.

[2] According to the Survey of co. Lancaster made in 1212, Gilbert de Notton held one carucate of land [in Crompton] in thanage, of Roger de Montbegon and William de Nevill jointly, by the service of 6s. 4d. yearly. The Nevill moiety was in the King's hands at the date of the Survey, because the heirs of the said William, then deceased, had neglected to do homage and render their relief. At this period, Crompton, Sholver, Werneth, Oldham, Glodwick, and Alt were members of a district known as Kaskenemoor, which was held of the King in thanage by the yearly service of 19s. and finding a doomsman or judge at the County and Wapentake Courts. The assessment area appears to have been three carucates and one oxgang of land. In the time of Stephen and Henry II., this estate was held by Adam fitz Swain, whose father, Swain fitz Alric, died shortly before the 31 Henry I. (Pipe Roll, p. 142). He held large estates in Yorkshire, Cumberland, and Lancashire, in which latter county, besides Kaskenemoor, he held Croston cum membris, and is alleged to have been lord of the Honour of Hornby, but upon what authority I have not been able to discover. He died about 1160, leaving two daughters his heirs—Amabel, the elder, who married, firstly, Alexander de Crevequeur, and, secondly, William de Nevill above named; and Matilda, the younger, married to Adam de Montbegon, father of Roger above named.

GILBERT DE NOTTON (1) held this estate, and the not far distant estate of Chadderton, by the feoffment of Adam fitz Swain to his ancestor, and not as in the case of Barton cum membris in right of his wife, Lady Edith de Barton. The earliest mention that I have found of Gilbert de Notton occurs in the Sheriff's account of

SCIANT, etc., quod ego Rogerus de Notton dedi, etc., unam terram quæ est in Gholmeresclif quæ appellatur Hessen-eslac, scilicet, de Louenathedenebroc usque ad Henecescloch, Insimul etiam le Clif, In quo edificia Galfridi de Mamcestre sita sunt, cum communi pastura et eisiamentis uillæ de Crompton co. Lancaster at Michaelmas, 1185, when the latter rendered account at the Treasury of one mark from Gilbert de Noton and Richard de Heland for licence to make an agreement touching some suit which they had been litigating in the King's Court (Lancashire Pipe Rolls, p. 55). He was Seneschal to John de Lacy, Constable of Chester sometime between 1213 and 1220. By his first wife, who died before 1203, he appears to have had issue at least two sons, viz., Gilbert and William. By his second wife, Edith, lady of Barton in her own right, daughter of Matthew de Barton, whom he married shortly before 1203, he had no issue; but the said Edith by her first husband, whose name has not been preserved, had issue a son, John, who died young and unmarried, and a daughter, Cecily, her heir, of whom presently.

GILBERT DE NOTTON (2), eldest son of Gilbert, the Seneschal, married Margery, daughter of Hugh de Eland of Eland and Rochdale, who gave the said Gilbert in frank marriage with his daughter, certain lands in Naden in Spotland (Whalley Coucher, p. 640). The said Gilbert also purchased from Robert de Mitton certain lands which had been bestowed upon Jordan de Mitton (the said Robert's grandfather), early in the reign of Henry II., by Hugh de Eland, in frank marriage with his daughter Wymark, viz., two oxgangs of land in Wardleworth, and two oxgangs in Heley (Whalley Coucher, pp. 623, 627). This land afterwards became the nucleus of the Byron estates in the lordship of Rochdale. Gilbert de Notton, jun., by his said wife had issue a son, Roger, who succeeded to his father's Yorkshire estates in Silkstone, Farnley Tias, and Woodsome, of which the former estate passed by the marriage of his daughter and heir. Christiana, to William Heron, and so to the family of John, Lord Darcy (Hunter's Deanery of Doncaster, passim). The said Roger was the grantor in Charter No. 2. Having released his estates in Farnley and Woodsome, co. York, and in Rochdale, co. Lanc., to Baldwin le Tyas or Tyes (Teutonicus), who had married his mother, he died in 1241 (Yorks. Arch. Journal, vol. vii., pp. 131, 132 n; Black Book of Clayton, (Towneley's MS.); Fine Roll, 25 Hen. III. m. 14). Joan, daughter of the said Baldwin le Tyas, married, firstly, Sir Robert de Hoyland, Knt., of High Hoyland, in the Wapentake of Staincross, co. York (Hunter's Deanery of Doncaster, Vol. II., p. 263), to whom her father conveyed in frank marriage with his said daughter Joan, all his lands in Rochdale, viz., in Butterworth, Clegg, Gartside, Ogden, Hollingworth, and Haugh (Black Book of Clayton, No. 71); and, secondly, Sir John de Byron, Knt., of Clayton, in Salfordshire.

WILLIAM DE NOTTON (3), second son of Gilbert the Seneschal, married Cecily, daughter and heir of Edith, lady of Barton, and step-daughter of his said father. She probably died young, having had issue two sons, Gilbert, her heir, of whom presently, and Matthew. William de Notton is named in the Inquest of co. Lancaster, taken in 1212, as lord of Breightmet, which estate probably descended to his younger son, Matthew, whose heir I suppose to have been Avina, who married Sir William de Samlesbury of Samlesbury, and Harewood, to whose daughters and co-heirs this estate descended (Lancashire Final Concords, p. 130*n*). He is definitely described as the husband of the daughter of Edith de Barton, in her grant of the moiety of Cadishead to Stanlaw Abbey, which she made "with the assent and goodwill of my husband, Sir Gilbert de Notton, for the health of our souls, and for the health of John de Barton, my son, and for the health of my daughter, to wit, the wife of William de

1. Withinton. Odo.

NOUERINT præsentes et futuri quod ego Odo, filius Ingrith de Withinton, pro salute animæ, etc., dedi, etc., In puram et perpetuam elemosinam, quandam partem terræ meæ in Withinton, scilicet, octo acras terræ iuxta magnum fossatum ex australi parte sicuti cruces demonstrant, liberè, quietè, integrè et honorificé, cum communi pastura et omnibus libertatibus et eisiamentis ad feodum meum prædictæ uillæ Notton" (Whalley Coucher, p. 521). Edith de Barton, her husband Gilbert, the Seneschal, and his son, William de Notton, all died before the 16th Oct., 1220, at which date the heir was under age and in ward of Robert Grelley (Close Roll, 4 Hen. III, m. 1 d).

GILBERT DE BARTON (4) succeeded to his grandmother's estates upon attaining his majority shortly before the 26th January, 1222, that being the date of the mandate to the Sheriff of Lancaster to give to "Gilbert, grandson and heir of Edith de Barton" livery of 32 oxgangs of land with the appurtenances in Barton [cum membris], which he ought to hold of the King in socage, and for which he had fined for his relief by ten marks, and had done homage (Fine Roll, 6 Hen. III., m. 7). He held the remainder of his estates in Barton cum membris by military service, of Robert Grelley, lord of Manchester. He married Cecily, whose parentage is unknown, by whom he had issue John de Barton, who died young, and a daughter, Agnes his heir, whose daughter, Loretta, married John del Booth, and so carried the extensive estates in Barton and elsewhere to the family of Booth of Barton.

No excuse for this lengthy note seems necessary in view of the extremely incorrect descents shown in the recognised pedigrees of the Notton and Barton families, as they appear in the Coucher of Whalley, p. 45, and in the last edition of Baines' Hist. of Lancashire, Vol. III., page 241. Additional notes, corrected in one or two details by this account, will be found in Lancashire Final Concords, Record Society, Vol. XXXIX., pp. 62 and 89. See also the note on p. 678 of this volume.

[fol. 109b.] Cestria. SCIANT omnes præsentes et futuri, Quod Ego Radulfus Saracin de Cestria concessi, etc. Deo et Beatæ Mariæ de Cokersand et fratribus ibidem deo seruientibus, medietatem terræ quæ est inter terram Ranulfi de ffrodesham et Ricardi de Grandun, quam emi de Langus, propinquiorem partem terræ Ranulfi de ffrodesham contra domum Normanni clerici; in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, liberè et quietè ab omni seruicio seculari et exactione, saluo uno denario Comiti, scilicet, Londgable ad terminum Pentecostes. Hanc donacionem ego Radulfus et hæredes mei contra omnes homines prædictis fratribus warantizabimus inperpetuum. Pro salute animæ meæ, sponsæ meæ et antecessorum et successorum meorum. Hiis testibus, etc.

Radulfus Saracin.

Istam terram tenet Johannes Norman in feodo et reddit nobis annuatim ij. solidos, scilicet, ad Natiuitatem Sancti Johannis Baptistæ.

Obligacio. Quære cartam de redditu quinque solidorum ffratrum Hospitalis Cestriæ inter cartas de Derbisyre, fere in principio, De terra de Alreton.

Grant in frankalmoign from Ralph Saracen of Chester to God and the blessed Mary of Cockersand and the brethren there, of the moiety of the land which lies between land of Ranulf de Frodsham and Richard de Grandon, which he bought of Langus, the portion next to land of Ranulf de Frodsham over against the house of Norman, the Clerk; quit of all secular service saving one penny to the Earl [of Chester], to wit, Landgable [due] at the term of Pentecost. With warranty.

John Norman holds that land [in 1268] in fee, rendering yearly to the brethren two shillings at the Nativity of St. John the Baptist.

Seek for the charter touching the rent of five shillings of the brethren of the Hospital of Chester among the charters of Derbyshire almost in the beginning "Of land of Allerton."

MEMORANDUM quod habuimus quondam xxiiij. solidos annui redditus de villa de Werburton in Cestrichire. Et uenditus est ille redditus pro quater viginti Marcis, ad emendum tantum redditum infra Comitatus Lancastre.

De quibus denariis empta est in primo quædam terra cum edificiis in Lancastre pro viij. Marcis de Gilberto Clerico de Lancastre. Quære cartam eiusdem in Lancastre.

Item De Johanne de Hoton duo tenementa in Caton pro viij. Marcis et pro Confirmacione eorumdem in elemosina j. Marca Johanni Domino de Caton. Quære cartas in Caton.

Be it remembered that we formerly had twenty-four shillings of yearly rent out of the town of Warburton in Cheshire, which rent has been sold for four score marks to improve to the same amount the rent within the county of Lancaster. Out of which moneys, firstly, certain land with buildings in Lancaster has been bought from Gilbert, the Clerk of Lancaster, for eight marks. Seek for the charter of the same under Lancaster. Also from John de Hutton two tenements in Caton for eight marks, and for confirmation thereof one mark to John, lord of Caton. Seek for the charters under Caton.

[CHARTERS RELATING TO THE PRIORY AND CHURCH OF WARBURTON, CO. CHESTER.—THESE ARE NOT IN THE CHARTULARY.]

. . . . . Ego Adam de Dutton assensu Agnetis sponsæ meæ dedi Deo et Sanctæ Mariæ, et Sanctæ Werburgæ de Werburton, et canonicis Premonstratensis ordinis ibidem deo servientibus medietatem totius villæ de Werburton in liberam elemosynam, pro salute animæ Johannis constabularii et antecessorum suorum, et pro salute animæ et corporis Rogeri Constabularii, et sponsæ suæ, et pro anima patris mei et matris meæ, pro anima Rogeri filii aluredi de cujus feodo hæc est, et antecessorum suorum, pro anima Johannis filii mei cujus corpus ibi sepultum est, et pro salute animæ meæ et sponsæ meæ et omnium antecessorum meorum. Testibus, Hugone de Dutton, et Galfrido fratre suo, etc.[1]

Grant in frankalmoign from Adam de Dutton, with the assent of Agnes his wife to God and St. Mary and St. Werburg of Warburton, and the Premonstratensian canons there, of the moiety of the town of Warburton,[2] for the health of the souls of John, Constable [of Chester], and his ancestors; of Roger, Constable [of Chester], and his wife; of the grantor's father and mother; of Roger fitz Alfred, of whose fee the said land was; of the grantor's son John, whose body lay buried there; and for the health of his own soul, his wife's, and the souls of all his ancestors. Witnesses—Hugh de Dutton and Geoffrey his brother. [S.D. 1189—1208.]

OMNIBUS sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis tam præsentibus quam futuris, Willelmus de Boidele, salutem. Noverit universitas vestra me de jure patronatus mei concessione, et hac præsenti carta mea confirmasse donacionem et concessionem illam quæ ego, dum parsona medietatis ecclesiæ de Limma extiterim, feci intuitu [divina] deo et sanctæ Werburgæ et capellæ suæ de Werburton, [sicut in carta mea continetur, et illam

[1] Ormerod's Hist. of Cheshire, Vol. I., p. 567.

[2] In the reign of Richard I., or early in that of John, the Abbot of Cockersand received a grant of the moiety of the township of Warburton, with the chapel dedicated to St. Werburg, from Adam de Dutton, with the consent of his wife Agnes, daughter and heir of Roger fitz Alfred, from whom this estate descended to her. It consisted of eight oxgangs of land, and produced a rent, arising from the service by which the Dutton family held it, of twenty-four shillings yearly. It was held of the Boydell family, and accordingly William de Boydell confirms in No. 2 a previous charter to the chapel of St. Werburg, by which he had probably bestowed upon it his rights in the township, viz., the said yearly service of twenty-four shillings. This appears from the acknowledgment made by William de Boydell to Geoffrey, son of Geoffrey de Dutton, quoted in the Hist. of Cheshire, Vol. I., p. 568, Note d.

In the year 1271, Abbot Adam, desiring to consolidate the property of the Abbey, sold all the Cheshire estates belonging to his house in right of the chapel of Warburton, where they maintained a canon to sing masses for the soul of Adam de Dutton, his ancestors, and successors (see No. 4), to Sir Geoffrey de Dutton, Knt., for the sum of 80 marks, reserving only a small property in the city of Chester. With this sum, which represented 44⅔ years' purchase, not allowing for reliefs, &c., they purchased estates in Lancaster and Caton.

donacionem ego et hæredes mei pro posse nostro toto warantizabimus et manu tenebimus. Testibus domino G[alfrido] abbate Cestriæ, domino [Radulfo] abbate de Stanlawe, Eg[idio] priore de Norton, Bertramo decano Cestriæ, Magistro Ernato officiali, Petro Chaun[cellario?], Gilberto decano de Wich, Petro clerico comitis, Osberto, Gilberto, capellanis, Hugone de Dutton, Lidulfo de Twamlawe, Rannulfo de Feod' clerico, Ricardo de Kingesle, Galfrido de Dutton, Ricardo de Estun, Ricardo Sterki, Thoma filio Willelmi, Ricardo de Rodestorne, clerico, et multis aliis.[1]

Confirmation by William de Boydell of the grant which he made whilst he was parson of the moiety of the church of Lymme, to God and St. Werburg and her chapel of Warburton. With warranty. Witnesses—lord Geoffrey, abbot of Chester; lord Ralph, abbot of Stanlaw; Gyles, prior of Norton; Bertram, dean of Chester; Master Ernald (?), official; Peter the Chancellor, Gilbert, dean of Wych; Peter, the Earl [of Chester's] clerk; Osbert and Gilbert, chaplains; Hugh de Dutton, Lyulph de Twemlowe, Ranulf de Feod' clerk; Richard de Kingsley, Geoffrey de Dutton, Richard de Aston, Richard Starkey, Thomas son of William, Richard de Rosthorne, clerk, and many others. [S.D. 1194—1208.]

OMNIBUS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis tam præsentibus quam futuris Gralamus de Lostoc salutem. With warranty. Witnesses—Adam de Dutton, and Geoffrey his son, Warine de Vernon, William de Venables, Ralph son of Roger, and others. [S.D. 1190—1205 c.]

UNIVERSIS sanctæ Matris ecclesiæ filiis ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit R[ogerus] dictus abbas de Kokersont, salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra nos ascensu et concessu conventus nostri quietum clamasse G[alfrido] filio Adæ de Dutton, omnem donationem quam Adam de Duttun fecit nobis et domui nostræ de Kokersont in Werburton et in omnibus aliis locis, præter viij. bovatas terræ in Werburton, prout continetur in carta ipsius G[alfridi] filii Adæ. Ego siquidem vel conventus illuc inperpetuum inveniemus unum capellanum ministrantem pro anima Adæ de Dutton et fidelibus dei defunctis. His testibus, Phillipo de Orrebi, Gileberto de Limme, Ricardo de Kingesle, Johanne de Hatell, Jordano clerico, et multis aliis.

[The seal is wanting].

Release by Roger, Abbot of Cockersand and the Convent, to Geoffrey, son of Adam de Dutton, of the whole gift, which Adam de Dutton made to them and to the house of Cockersand, in Warburton and other places, except eight oxgangs of land, in Warburton, as is contained in the charter of the said Geoffrey, son of Adam; the said Abbot and Convent finding one chaplain there to sing masses for the soul of Adam de Dutton, and for the faithful dead. Witnesses—Philip de Orreby, Gilbert de Lymme, Richard de Kingsley, John de Hatell, Jordan the Clerk, and others. [S.D. 1200–1208.]

OMNIBUS [sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit] Frater Adam, Dei gratia dictus abbas de Cokersand et ejusdem loci conventus salutem. Noverit universitas vestra nos communi assensu et consensu conventus nostri remississe, ac pro nobis et successoribus nostris in perpetuum quietum clamasse domino Galfrido de Dutton et hæredibus suis vel assignatis, totum jus et clamium quod habuimus vel habere potuimus in homagium et servicium de illis terris et tenementis quas de nobis tenuit in Werburton et Cadwalsete, cum omnibus libertatibus et pertinenciis dictis terris, serviciis, et homagiis pertinentibus, scilicet in wardis, escaetis, releviis, et omnibus aliis exitibus prædictis terris, homagio et servicio pertinentibus. Præterea concessimus, etc., et quietam clamavimus pro nobis et successoribus nostris dicto Galfrido et hæredibus suis vel assignatis capellam de Werburton cum advocatione ejusdem et [viij,] bovatis terræ et redditibus et possessionibus prædictæ capellæ pertinentibus, quæ datæ sunt de prædecessoribus prædicti Galfridi et aliorum aliquorum infra comitatum Cestriæ: salvis nobis et successoribus nostris redditibus nostris et possessionibus in civitate Cestriæ. Item reddidimus prædicto Galfrido omnes cartas, scripta, et instrumenta quæ habuimus ab ipso et antecessoribus suis sive de omnibus aliis de comitatu Cestriæ dictam capellam tangentia et terras præscriptas. Et si aliquod scriptum seu carta de cetero de prædictis inveniantur: voluimus ut nihil nobis poterint prodesse, vel dicto Galfrido et hæredibus suis nocere vel gravare, etc. Pro hac autem concessione, remissione et quieta clamancia prædictus Galfridus dedit nobis quater viginti marcas argenti. Ita quod nos dicti abbas et conventus nec successores nostri de cetero nullum jus vel clamium in omnibus rebus prænominatis et reservatis poterimus exigere vel vendicare in perpetuum. In cujus rei testimonium præsenti scripto signum nostrum commune apposuimus. Datum apud Cokersand, die sanctæ Laciæ virginis, anno incarnacionis dominici millesimo ducentesimo septuagesimo primo. Hiis testibus, domino Willelmo Pincerna, domino Adam de Hocton, domino Adam de Holand, domino Adam de Bury, militibus, Gilberto de Sutheworthe, Alano de Rixton, Michaele de Peninton, Hugone Norreys, Henrico de Tildislee, domino Petro rectore ecclesiæ de Limme, Ricardo Starki, Adam de Hatton et aliis.

[Seal of white wax, defaced].

Release by Adam, Abbot of Cockersand and the Convent of the same place, to Geoffrey de Dutton and his heirs, of the homage and service of all lands and tenements which he held of them in Warburton and Cadishead, and all wardships, escheats, reliefs and other issues therof, together with the chapel of Warburton and the advowson of the same, and the oxgangs, rents, and possessions of the same, which had been given by the predecessors of the said Geoffrey and some others within the county of Chester, saving their rents and possessions in the city of Chester. Further, they rendered to him all charters touching the said chapel and lands. For this release Geoffrey gave them eight score marks. Given at Cockersand on the day of St. Lucy the Virgin, [13th December] A.D. 1271. Witnesses—Sir William le Boteler, Sir Adam de Hoghton, Sir Adam de Holland, Sir Adam de Bury, Knights; Gilbert de Southworth, Alan de Rixton, Michael de Pennington, Hugh le Norreys, Henry de Tyldesley, Sir Peter, rector of the church of Lymme, Richard Starkey, Adam de Hatton, and others.

Assize Roll 1050, 52 Hen. iij., m 84.

THE Abbot of Kokersand claims against the Master of the Hospital of St. Leonard of York, and Thomas le Mareschal, one messuage with the appurtenances in York, as the right of his church of Kokersand, and in which the said Master and Thomas have no entry except after the demise which Henry, formerly Abbot of Kokersand, predecessor of the said Abbot, made thereof to Mariota de Crakhale, for the life of the said Mariota.

[1] Addit. MS., 32,107, fol. 190 b.

Afterwards they made an agreement, viz., that the aforesaid Abbot acknowledged the said messuage to be the right of the Master and Brethren of the said Hospital, and remitted and quit-claimed it from himself and his successors, to the said Master and his successors to hold in perpetuity for nine shillings and sixpence yearly, for all service. And they have a chirograph.

The Fifty-seventh Report

(18th of the NEW SERIES)

OF THE

COUNCIL OF THE CHETHAM SOCIETY,

Read at the Annual Meeting, held by permission of the Feoffees, in the Audit Room of Chetham's Hospital, Manchester, on Friday, the 22nd of June, 1900, by adjournment from the 1st of March.

SINCE the last Report of the Council one volume has been issued to the Members, namely, the first volume of the History of the Ancient Chapel of Stretford in Manchester Parish, edited by MR. H. T. CROFTON, being the forty-second volume of the New Series of the Society's Publications, and the third for the year 1898–99.

It is now thirty years since the History of Stretford was first announced in the Society's List of contemplated Works, under the editorship of the late Mr. James Croston, but various reasons have hitherto prevented its appearance, and the Council is now glad to be able to announce the issue of the first portion of the book. Mr. Crofton deals in this volume with the topography of the district, with the Church, its Clergy and Officials, and with the Church Registers. In the topographical portion he deals fully with the waterways, roads, etymology, etc., of the township, while in the part dealing more particularly with the church, he gives a list of the ministers with biographical notices, together with lists of the overseers, churchwardens, and other officials, not omitting some of the parish clerks, one of whom, Joseph Hampson, would seem from Mr. Crofton's description of him to have been quite a "character." A full Index will make its contents easily accessible to readers. The illustrations, for which the Members are indebted to Mr. Crofton, are fourteen in number; they add very much to the interest of the volume and include amongst others a portrait of the late Rev. John Booker, whose Histories of several of the Manchester Chapelries form a much valued portion of the first series of the Society's Publications, and a portrait of the late Mr. J. E. Bailey, at one time a member of the Council, and also Honorary Secretary of the Society. The book will run into three volumes, the second and third of which are ready for the printer. The principal subjects in the two volumes yet to be issued will be the Churchwardens Accounts and Vestry Minutes, Manorial Records, Eminent Families, and Miscellaneous History, and if these subjects are dealt with in the same complete manner as Mr. Crofton has treated those in the first volume the book may well be considered as an exhaustive history of the Stretford Chapelry, and a valuable addition both to the series of Histories of the Manchester Chapelries, issued by the Society, and also to the history of the County.

The other books in course of printing are the Visitationes Exemptæ Jurisdictionis Abbatis et Conventus Beatæ Mariæ Virginis de Whalley, edited by MISS ALICE M. COOKE, M.A., and Vol. II. Part II. of the Cockersand Chartulary, edited by MR. WILLIAM FARRER, both of which are making good progress. All these the Council hopes to issue during the present year. Three of the volumes will form the publications for 1899–1900.

Three years ago the Council in its Report invited contributions to a contemplated volume of Miscellanies. In addition to the contributions then mentioned, Mr. W. E. A. Axon has offered to edit for such a volume a series of curious tracts, &c., on Charles Bennet, the Miraculous Child of Manchester (1679), and the Council hopes shortly to be in a position to issue a volume of Miscellanies. Of such volumes there are six in the Old Series, and they are among the most interesting of the Society's Works. No volume of Miscellanies has yet appeared in the New Series.

The Society has lost by death since the last Annual Meeting six members, the Very Rev. Dean Cowie, who was a member of the Council from 1873 to 1884, the Duke of Westminster, Mr. T. H. Hope, Mr. T. G. Rylands, F.S.A., F.L.S., Mr. R. Milne-Redhead, and Mr. J. E. Worsley, F.S.A.

The following further works are in progress:—

Life of Humphrey Chetham. By CHARLES W. SUTTON, Esq.

Materials for the History of the Church of Lancaster. Part III. By W. O. ROPER, Esq.

Account Book of Sir Nicholas Shireburn. By C. T. BOOTHMAN, Esq.
